Bids Opened on $2,000,000 State Road Projects

BOARD TO AWARD CONTRACTS TODAY FOR HIGHWAY WORK

300 Contractors Submit Bids on 24 Road and Bridge Projects Affecting Many Parts of Georgia.

MACON WITHDRAWS INJUNCTION PAPER

Inequalities Being Corrected, Middle Georgia Interests Informed; Satisfaction Expressed.

Bids on more than 24 state highway projects which will total more than $2,000,000 were opened by the board Tuesday afternoon and will be awarded probably today. Announcement that awards of the letting would be made followed the withdrawal, in Athens, of a petition filed by Macon business interests to enjoin the board from making the new contracts.

There were approximately 300 bidders for the 24 projects, including grading paving and the construction of a number of bridges. Officials of the board, headed by Captain J. W. Barnett, chairman, began opening the bids shortly after 2 o'clock.

Petition Withdrawn.

Charles J. Bloch and C. Baxter Jones, representing the Macon interests, in announcing a withdrawal of the petition, said they took that course after receiving assurances that inequalities in allotment of construction funds were being corrected as fast as possible.

"From the testimony of Captain Barnett and from statements made by him out of court," the Bloch-Jones

COUNTY BUDGETS TO BE SET TODAY

Commission Will Hold Special Session; Drastic Reductions Anticipated.

County commissioners will hold a special session at the courthouse at 3 o'clock this afternoon to set departmental budgets for 1932 and to hear a petition from local lawyers that the Atlanta Title & Trust Company be ousted from office it occupies in the courthouse.

According to Chairman Walter C. Hendrix, the departmental salary budgets must be set ten days before the first of the year, and this afternoon it is the plan of the commissioners to make such reductions in the amounts allotted to each department, as will be in keeping with the economy program adopted by the board for the duration of their administration. Heads of the departments already have suffered heavy personal salary cuts set at a previous meeting, and blanket cuts of 10 percent on all employees of the county making more than $150 a month were placed into effect several months ago.

The fight over the space occupied by the title company is an old one and the present petition has been hanging fire for some time. The case is to be argued fully this afternoon and some definite action is expected to result.

Culbertsons Leading by 410; Win and Lose Four Rubbers

BY TOM O'NEIL.
NEW YORK, N. Y., December 16. (Wednesday.)—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson gained 425 points in a prolonged and argumentative session of their marathon contract match with Sidney S. Lenz and Oswald Jacoby, ending at 1:40 a. m. today.

For the first time after a session the Culbertsons were in the lead. After 48 rubbers of the series they were 410 points plus, having won 23 rubbers to 25 for Lenz and Jacoby.

After rubber 47 the Culbertsons were 1,550 ahead, but in 48, a prolonged affair of 13 hands, one of which was passed out, were defeated. After two hands in 48 they had a lead of 1,760, their high water mark of the series. The eight rubbers played in the seventh session were divided four and four.

Comments were:

Culbertson—"I consider it a great victory for the Culbertson system."

Lenz—"Culbertson isn't playing his system."

There were arguments aplenty during the session.

"I'll never make another agreement with that fellow," said Lenz when he found the Culbertsons dining at a time he thought they should be ready to play.

Culbertson once dropped a club on the table when he should have played a heart.

Lenz called for his highest heart as penalty.

A few hands later Lenz played the wrong card. Culbertson, holding a hand that could lose no tricks regardless of the play, said:

"Just as a favor, Sidney, I won't penalize you."

"If you please, Ely," replied Lenz. "I don't want any favors from you."

When Culbertson once spread his hand out as enemy Jacoby said:

"I want to call the referee's attention to Mr. Culbertson's hand; the fact he has departed from his own system in bidding it."

Culbertson retorted:

"Ely! Ely!" said Mrs. Culbertson sharply.

"Please don't talk," said a referee.

"There was no further comment."

The next session will be Thursday at 8 p. m.

Oswald Jacoby made four hearts and rams on the first hand tonight. This increased the plus of himself

CHICAGO PICKED BY REPUBLICANS

June 14 Tentatively Set as Convention Date at Hoover Rally.

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The republican national committee selected Chicago for its national convention at a meeting today that had and applauded an endorsement of President Hoover's administration.

The Illinois metropolis won the convention on the first ballot in a goosed spirited contest with Atlantic City—the only other contestant for the meeting place. Chicago's selection was made unanimous after the roll call showed the standing 86 to 14.

The republican men and women from the 48 states and the territories went about their business with dispatch. The meeting took on the spirit of a Hoover rally as Chairman Fess in the opening address lauded the president's policies.

The committee adjourned until tomorrow to complete the troublesome task of allotment of delegates to states and to hear an address from Secretary Hurley of the president's official family.

June 14 was tentatively fixed for the meeting time of the convention.

Chicago is an old stamping ground of the republicans, but this is the first time the party has gone there for its nominating convention since 1920 when Warren G. Harding was selected as the presidential candidate.

40 Prison Holocaust Rebels Freed From Dread Solitary

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Dec. 15.—(UP)—Broken and silent, 40 convicts were led today from the solitary punishment cells in which they had been confined for 18 months, suddenly to resume "normal" life with their fellow prisoners at Ohio state penitentiary.

Ring leaders in the riot and incendiarism that made a carnage house of the prison last year and cost the lives of 222 convicts, the 40 silent men appeared burned out in spirit and wrecked in physique. Two of their fellow went mad under the torture of isolation, and are now in the Lima institution for mental treatment.

Among the 40 released after a year and a half of solitude, wherein there was no man to talk to, no man to see, and nothing with which to occupy the mind except the dread of memories of the night of April 21, 1930, when the prison became a screaming inferno, were two who were directly responsible for the fire.

Their cells were not dungeons. They were roomy, well-ventilated and lighted not only by electric bulbs but by occasional shafts of dust-flecked sunlight streaming into the "L" block. But they were far away from the

HARD WORDS MARK DEBT PLAN DEBATE

McFadden's Charges Against Hoover Precipitate Bitter Clash.

BY WILLIAM L. BEALE.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The word "impeachment" was heard in the house today during debate on President Hoover's debt moratorium which the administration at that moment was asking a committee to approve.

A charge by Representative McFadden, Republican, Pennsylvania, in a long speech that the chief executive "proposed to sell out to Germany," brought a dozen representatives to their feet.

A demand from a democrat, Representative O'Connor, of New York, that some republican "should defend the president from charges which were grounds for impeachment" followed.

While Undersecretary Mills of the treasury told the ways and means committee that failure to approve the moratorium "would be an everlasting disgrace to the government and people of the United States," Representative Chipfield, Illinois republican, leaped up and answered McFadden. He is a new member. It was his first speech.

"I denounce as false and untrue any statement that the president has negotiated directly with Germany financial interests," he said. "I de-

Leaders Also Decide Moratorium Vote Should Not Be Cast Along Party Lines.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Concentration on a slash in government expenditures was agreed upon today by a score of democratic leaders at the first item of the party's legislative program.

In addition, they came to the conclusion that the Hoover moratorium was not a question on which the party could take sides. It was left to be settled by the personal views of the membership.

Moving for the first time, the democratic congressional policy committee, composed of 10 party leaders from each house of the federal legislature, discussed taxes, tariff and the big treasury deficit, too. Decisions on these issues were left to future meetings.

A statement was issued by Speaker Garner and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, democratic floor leader, at the end of the two-hour session. It follows in full:

"There was a partial interchange of views regarding the proposed moratorium, government expenditures, taxation and the tariff.

"With respect to the moratorium, it was the opinion of the committee that the same is not subject matter for party consideration and democratic members of the party are expected to reflect their personal views and convictions.

"It was agreed that every possible effort shall be made to reduce government expenditures and with that end in view studies will be carried on.

"No talks with respect to the tariff and revised internal revenue taxes were agreed upon, these and other matters being deferred for future consideration."

Garner and Robinson were authorized to convene the committee soon but no date was fixed. The group will continue as an official advisory committee for the party throughout the session. It represents virtually every section of the country.

The senators are: Robinson, Arkansas; Glass, Virginia; Walsh, Montana; Walsh, Massachusetts; Hull, Tennessee; Barkley, Kentucky; Harrison, Mississippi; Bulkeley, Ohio; Wagner, New York, and Pittman, Nevada.

Besides Speaker Garner, the chairman, the representatives are: Rainey, Illinois, democratic leader; Byrnes, Tennessee; Cullen, New York; Crisp, Georgia; Bankhead, Alabama; Taylor, Colorado; Drewry, Virginia; Sandlin, Louisiana, and Greenwood, Indiana.

Druggists Bar CREDIT TO CITY

Open account sales to the city of Atlanta were barred Tuesday by wholesale druggists in a communication to the purchasing committee of council, and unless warrants bearing 7 per cent interest are issued, current sales to the city will be stopped. The druggists said they would not supply hospital needs, according to Alderman G. Everett Milligan, of the purchasing committee.

After now over a month of drug concerns about $15,000 for supplies purchased for Grady hospital, the Atlanta

GROUP ABANDONS ORIGINAL HOPES FOR CANCELLATION

Young Plan Advisory Body Will Be Urged To Approve Findings of Special Sub-Committee on Reparations.

GERMANY, FRANCE MAY FRAME PLAN

Several Members of Body Favored Clearing of Books Until Deterred by U. S. Stand.

BY MELVIN WHITELEATHER.
BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Germany will receive an extension of the Hoover moratorium on conditional reparations payments if the Young plan advisory committee adopts the report of its subcommittee, the Associated Press learned today.

A committee composed of Sir Walter Layton, of Great Britain; Professor Charles Rist, of France, and Dr. Carl Melchior, of Germany, are drafting the report, on which they are being assisted by Walter W. Stewart, American delegate. It will embody a summary of Germany's capacity to pay and will touch on the following topics:

(1) The short-term credit situation and its relation to Germany's public debts.

(2) The extent and influence of Germany's favorable trade balance since 1930.

(3) The condition of the reich's budget, with a possible reference to its expenditure.

(4) The position of the Reichsbank, gold coverage and maintenance of the gold standard.

(5) Possible alternatives in future German policy.

The world-political situation, especially the stand of the United States against the scaling down of war debts, has diverted the committee from its original intentions, it was learned.

Several members came here ten days ago to discuss the complete cancellation of reparations payments despite the Young plan, which specifies they should remain measures "to be taken in regard to application of the present plan."

The change in attitude by these members—who claim a majority came about the time of the American congress met, without the talk of debt revision sweeping across the Atlantic.

It is possible that the report may contain a suggestion that France and Germany agree between themselves on continuing the Hoover moratorium, which expires July 1, 1932, regarding unconditional payments. This stipulates that the sum of about 600,000,000 reichsmarks be paid to Germany to be used in the reconstruction of the back to the reich.

Opportunity No. 7

Mrs. X. and her elder son are doing the best they can to care for their four small children, but their efforts fall pitifully short of adequate support. Five years ago Mrs. X's husband disappeared and has not since been seen.

With the burden left upon his mother's shoulders, the older boy—14 years old—left school to help. He and his mother earn only a few dollars a month for the care of three other little boys and a tiny girl. Mrs. X. a few months ago underwent a major operation, but is now able to help neighbors with their work and laundry, in order to earn a few pennies a day.

Despite their handicaps, Mrs. X. and her John have done the best they can. No day is too long, no weather too cold, if they can only find work to do. But their efforts will not be enough to keep the children in school and provide necessary food.

There is Atlanta's opportunity for today. This family has been carefully investigated and were found to be worthy in every respect. Twenty dollars a month or $240 a year is needed to help them along during 1932. Will you help?

Only One Opportunity Family Cared for; YOUR Aid Needed

BY ROY ROBERT.

With only one family definitely provided for and with only slightly more than enough in cash subscriptions to care for another, Atlanta people Tuesday night gave evidence that they are slow to accept Ten Opportunities—the ten neediest worthy families in the city.

Opportunity No. 7 is presented in another column today, so that all may know the pitiful condition of people who are actually facing starvation unless a helping hand is extended by those who have incomes and jobs. Every Opportunity is thoroughly investigated and in every case they are known to be worthy of aid.

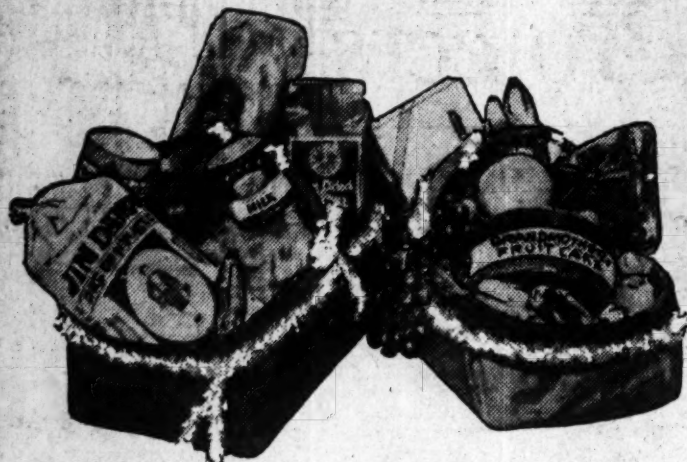

The young people's department of Druid Hills Methodist church subscribed to care for Opportunity No. 3 next year. No other one of the ten needy families is provided for as yet, although cash donations and the proceeds from the sale of six used cars, donated by the John Smith Company, will be applied to the support of one or more families.

Seven opportunities are now before the public and three more are yet to be given. So far the heart of Atlanta has reflected little of the love and sympathy that in the past have marked the annual Ten Opportunity

LEADERS TO PUSH COTTON HOLDING

Groups To Ask Russell, Murray To Call Extra Assembly Sessions.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Steps to influence adoption of cotton limitation acreage in four more southern states with a view to taking 4,000,000 bales additional of the current crop from the market were taken here today by the southern cotton executive committee.

Before the meeting it was announced that in addition to 7,000,000 bales taken from the market by bankers, co-operative associations and the farm board, President Hoover had given assurance that he would aid in taking 4,000,000 more bales off the market to improve its tone.

The last 4,000,000 bales, however, would be taken only if southern states in which 75 per cent of the crop is grown would enact legislation to reduce the crops in 1932 and 1933 to 50 per cent of the 1931 production, spokesmen before the conference said.

Committees were named to confer with Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., of Georgia, and Governor William F. Murray, of Oklahoma, relative to calling the legislatures of those states into session to enact the legislation similar to that passed in Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi.

State Representative R. J. Goode, the Alabama member of the conference and a member of the Alabama legislature, was designated to convey to the members of the Alabama legislature the sentiment of the committee and to ask their opinions.

Governor E. M. Miller, of Alabama, thus far has declined to call the legislature into special session to enact the legislation, which he termed "impractical, unenforceable and unconstitutional."

The committee was assured by the Louisiana delegation that Governor Huey Long would call the Louisiana legislature into session to modify the no-cotton plan, the other states went forward with the acreage limitation law.

Governor Ibra Blackwell, of South Carolina, wired the committee he would be favorable to modification of the South Carolina production law if other states went forward.

Dr. Tait Butler, chairman of the committee, in describing the situation in Tennessee said petitions calling on Governor Henry Horton to call the Tennessee legislature into session to enact acreage limitation laws were being circulated and probably 10,000 to 15,000 planters would sign them.

Lawrence Tibbett, star baritone of the Metropolitan Grand Opera, came to town Tuesday afternoon for his concert at the city auditorium.

"Well, this feels like home!" he breathed as he alighted from a train at Peachtree station, stretched his legs and received greetings from a group of persons. Not a woman was at the station to meet him.

Lawrence Tibbett may very well be called "The Democrat of Opera," for his views and his determination are a radical departure from the old and musty perspectives of most of those who are famous in that department of music.

Tibbett believes that the public is entitled to music—any music the public prefers, whether it be jazz or the heavier compositions.

He most emphatically negated the idea that music must come to the public through the medium of grand opera, and, quite to the contrary, pointed to the talking pictures as the more advantageous device of dissemination of good and popular music.

"Through the talking pictures," he explained, "people out in Oshkosh, in Kokomo, in Grand Rapids and in every town in the country may hear real music; music that is good, and in their own language. They may hear this music for an admission price of from 25 to 50 cents, where they couldn't possibly afford to pay $7 or $8 for a seat at the Metropolitan."

"There is no hope for opera as a popular entertainment," he pointed out, "unless the public could understand the fundamentals of opera, how it was written and when, and learn the lyrics and understand how opera is produced."

Lawrence Tibbett, star baritone of the Metropolitan Grand Opera, arrived in Atlanta Tuesday afternoon for his concert here tonight. Accompanying the famous singer was Stewart Wille, piano accompanist, and Johnny Evans, concert manager. In the above photo are Wille (left) and Tibbett, snapped at Peachtree station. Staff photo by Bill Mason.

"The main trouble," he continued, "is that many people often sniff at what is easily understood and seem to have the perverse idea that only that which is not understood, or only partly understood, is in better taste. This is decidedly wrong. Some of the simplest songs, in our own English, are the most beautiful music there is in existence."

"And another thing. When I know that hundreds of school children who have seen pictures I have made—say 'The Rogue Song' and 'The Cuban Love Song'—for example—come to hear me sing those songs, I am not going to turn them away disappointed. Tibbett was accorded a vociferous welcome when he appeared at the Fox Tuesday night to see—for the first time—his newest feature, 'Cuban Love Song.' Recognized and pointed out by the stage show master of ceremonies, Tibbett was greeted by such a storm of applause that he was forced to rise for a few words. In the glare of the spotlight, he thanked the audience for its welcome and expressed his pleasure at being in Atlanta again—and then sat down and enjoyed the show."

Tibbett will appear at the auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tonight, and indications Tuesday were that an unusually large audience will welcome him back to Atlanta.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 15.—(AP)—In the opinion of Colonel Leonard P. Ayres, vice president of the Cleveland Trust Company, and nationally recognized business analyst, the two main forces which caused the country's depression have reached the end of their ropes.

Making his annual address today before the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce, Colonel Ayres said these two great forces were the collapse of wholesale prices and the contraction of credit under pressure of the banks.

Tibbett, Here for Concert, Thinks Simple Music Best

On the eve of his ninth consecutive season in Metropolitan Grand Opera, Lawrence Tibbett, star baritone, arrived in Atlanta Tuesday afternoon for his concert here tonight. Accompanying the famous singer was Stewart Wille, piano accompanist, and Johnny Evans, concert manager. In the above photo are Wille (left) and Tibbett, snapped at Peachtree station. Staff photo by Bill Mason.

"The main trouble," he continued, "is that many people often sniff at what is easily understood and seem to have the perverse idea that only that which is not understood, or only partly understood, is in better taste. This is decidedly wrong. Some of the simplest songs, in our own English, are the most beautiful music there is in existence."

"And another thing. When I know that hundreds of school children who have seen pictures I have made—say 'The Rogue Song' and 'The Cuban Love Song'—for example—come to hear me sing those songs, I am not going to turn them away disappointed. Tibbett was accorded a vociferous welcome when he appeared at the Fox Tuesday night to see—for the first time—his newest feature, 'Cuban Love Song.' Prohi Raiders Rescue Intended 'Ride' Victim

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Time-ly arrival of prohibition raiders at an illicit distillery tonight saved an accused informer from gangland execution.

Battering their way into a deserted varnish factory where a huge still had been set up, the agents surprised five hoodlums dragging John Wolf, pleading for his life, toward a car parked in the rear, in which he was slated to take a "one-way ride."

The abductors fled as the raiders burst in, and escaped.

Wolf said the hoodlums accused him of "tipping" officials that a still was being operated at the place and had summarily condemned him to death.

Both Mr. Purvis and Mr. Flanders are now serving in their districts, the latter under a recess appointment made after his original nomination. sent to the senate near the close of the last session, failed of action.

No opposition is expected against the middle district marshal, who has held the post several years, but a vigorous fight may develop against Mr. Flanders. At the time his appointment was first made last February, a spirited protest was forwarded to the senate judiciary committee by United States District Attorney Clint W. Hager, of Atlanta.

The committee, after considering the protest, decided to let the nomination go over. Since that time, republican organization leaders of Georgia, including State Chairman Josiah T. Rose, of Atlanta, and James W. Arnold, of Athens, new national committeeman from the state, who was confirmed today, have threatened the scalp of Mr. Hager, due among other things, to his opposition to Flanders. Efforts were made to have him ousted. It remains to be seen, therefore, whether the fight on Flanders will be continued.

If District Attorney Hager should revive his fight and prefer charges in his possession before the senate committee, the probabilities are Flanders' confirmation would be left in doubt. If he withdraws the charges, the chance for the appointment will go through without much of a contest.

Mr. Flanders was in Washington today looking on at sessions of the republican national committee. He was scheduled to return to his post at Savannah tomorrow, however.

DR. M. ASHBY JONES QUITS ST. LOUIS POST

Former Atlanta Minister Retires After Six Years of Service.

Dr. M. Ashby Jones has resigned the pastorate of the Second Baptist church, of St. Louis, which he has held for the past six years, it was learned Tuesday. No announcement of his plans beyond April 1 has been made.

Dr. Jones, who was pastor of the Ponce de Leon Baptist church in Atlanta for nine years, is known as one of the most eloquent divines in this country. He is famed also as a lecturer and a writer.

Dr. Jones accepted a call to the St. Louis church in 1926, after serving here since 1917. His sixth anniversary as pastor of that church is the date on which the resignation is effective.

MRS. SINCLAIR JACOBS SAYS NO STAND TAKEN

Mrs. Sinclair Jacobs, in a letter to The Constitution Tuesday, states that as a member of the League of Women Voters and president of the Atlanta League, she has not discussed the subject of prohibition reform, and that the league has not, nationally nor locally, studied the question. Mrs. Jacobs states that as president of the league she makes no statement on any controversial political matter which the league has not endorsed after careful study.

Mrs. Jacobs' letter follows: "I was quite amazed to read, attached to the end of the account of my trip to the World Court dinner in Philadelphia, which I discussed with a Constitution reporter, Monday, the statement that I am interested in the women's movement for national prohibition reform, since there was no mention of this subject then or on any other occasion."

"If the word interest is understood to indicate an awareness and consideration in a national problem the statement is most correct, for I believe it behooves every thinking person to recognize and consider the questions and difficulties of the citizenry—therefore, of our government—but while the use of the word interest does not definitely commit one to approval, yet as you have used it it implies activity with the movement mentioned, and has been so construed by several persons who have already communicated with me, therefore I ask you to let my fellow-citizens know that the president of the League of Women Voters makes no statement on, nor any connection with, any controversial political matter which the league has not endorsed after careful study. Neither nationally nor locally have we studied the prohibition question."

"Assuring you of my appreciation of your interest in the work I'm attempting to do—and of your helpful co-operation,

"Sincerely yours,

"MURIEL JACOBS."

Warmer Weather Is Forecast Today

Today is slated to be a "trifle warmer than Tuesday, but temperatures still will be in the thirties during the early morning," according to C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist. The day as a whole will be fine and clear, without much wind, he asserted.

The range of the mercury will be moderately low, between 34 and 36 degrees, in the morning and climbing to 55 during the afternoon. Tuesday the mercury slumped to 34 degrees and reached its zenith at 55 degrees. The cool snap is to last for several days, von Herrmann said, but there is no indication in sight of any subnormal weather.

ROUTSOS BROTHERS TO OPEN CAFE SOON

Routsos Brothers, who formerly operated the Routsos Cafe at 60 Peachtree street, are returning to the restaurant business.

The brothers have leased quarters for a new restaurant at 82 Broad street, N. W., and will open in a few days. John Routsos will be manager. The location was leased through the Adams-Cates Company.

BRYAN OR BRANTLEY SEEN AS BOARD HEAD

Election of either Judge Shepard Bryan, of Atlanta, or J. T. Brantley, of Blackshear, as chairman of the new board of control for the state's charitable institutions, training schools and welfare work is expected to be made when the 11 members recently appointed by Governor Russell meet at the executive offices Friday.

It will be the second major board named by the governor under the reorganization act to convene during the week. Like the board of regents, it will name a secretary whose salary may be as much as $5,000. While Friday's meeting will be "unofficial," whatever action is taken will be confirmed on January 1, when the board begins to function legally.

Candidate for Sheriff Wants Record Cleared

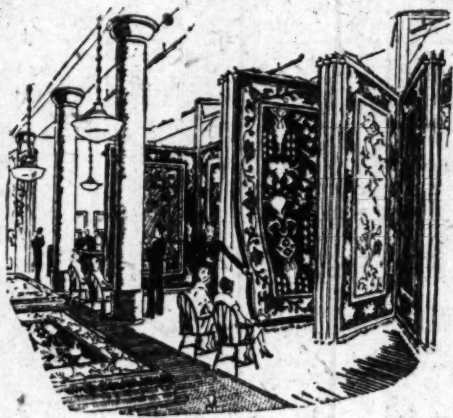

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Frank Marcoux, of Vermilion parish, wants the state to erase a 30-year-old mistake that stands in the way of his candidacy for sheriff. In 1899, Marcoux began a two-year prison sentence for the theft of a cow and lost his citizenship. Following his release in 1901, he returned home and became a leading resident of his parish.

Now he is running for sheriff and has asked the state pardon board to restore his rights as a citizen. He has the endorsement of Governor Huey P. Long, who says: "If Mr. Marcoux has violated the law and paid the penalty, he is better than some of us."

CULBERTSON'S STORY ON MATCH TUESDAY NIGHT

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—The acid test of a system of contract bidding, or of any other thing, is how it works in the pinch. In the last years and with the big heat, most any system will do. One should never fail to win in the battle of life or of cards so long as the current is running strongly in your favor, but when you have to battle against the tide then it is that the test of a system comes. And so it seemed to me was the case tonight.

The night was unusual in that at its very start we assumed the lead in the score for the second time during the match. We ended the night with a net lead of 410 points. Our opponents still held a preponderance of the aces and kings—particularly of the aces—but what I believe to be a more efficient system of bidding had enabled us to reach more frequently and with greater accuracy that desired end of all contract players—the best bid in the combined hands.

Time after time the official system was tested by two acknowledged masters and two worthy representatives, and more than once, as the hands below disclose, did this system break down under the stress and strain of needed accurate bidding. Sometimes one weakness was disclosed; at others another was apparent. There was not in the hands the surplus of brute strength to hide the weaknesses of the bidding system. The fault was not with the players; both of my opponents played with their usual admirable skill. The fault was not in their knowledge of the system; in all the world none know it better.

Emphasizing the weaknesses shown in the match thus far and accentuating the faults so clearly disclosed tonight was hand No. 273. North, dealer. Neither side vulnerable.

The bidding:
North East South West
1 Club Pass 2 Hearts Pass
3 Hearts Pass 6 Hearts Pass

The weakness of the official system provision that a suit bid may be supported with less than the adequate trump support required in the approach-forcing system was clearly shown in this hand, which was the second hand of rubber No. 48, the last rubber of the night.

As a result of Mr. Lenx, in accordance with the system, raising his partner's forcing take-out with three small trumps, a slam bid was defeated two tricks and a game sacrificed.

The weakness of the official two-bid was vividly illustrated in this hand, of which I was the hapless dealer:

The bidding:
West North East South
Pass Pass Pass 2 No-trump

Obviously had Mr. Jacoby been using the principle of the approach-forcing system, the laydown slam, which is in the cards and which he made, could easily have been reached. His hand contains six honor tricks and his partner's hand had two, leaving to us only a few shreds and patches, not enough in all to account for more than one trick.

The direct game bid of 2 no-trump was not disturbed by Mr. Lenx and thus we happily averted the scoring of a slam bonus by our opponents. The final hand of this rubber, which was won by Messrs. Lenx and Jacoby, also furnished an object lesson in the superiority of the approach-forcing Hand 250—Lenx was set two in a three no-trump contract. Net score: Lenx 630.

Hand 251—Culbertson contracted for two spades, enough to go game with a previous score. He made five. Net score: Lenx 420.

Hand 252—Lenx made three clubs on a contract for two. Net score: Lenx 510.

Hand 253—Culbertson made game and rubber by a five-club contract. Net score: Culbertsons 300.

RUBBER 45.
Hand 254—Lenx made game by a five club contract. He had 150 honors. Net score: Culbertsons 140.

Hand 255—Jacoby was set two in a two-club contract. Net score: Culbertsons 440.

Hand 256—Jacoby was set two vulnerable again when he tried one no-trump. Net score: Culbertsons 740.

Hand 257—Mrs. Culbertson made with a three no-trump contract. Net score: Culbertsons 840.

Hand 258—Jacoby made game and rubber with a four-heart contract. He had 100 honors. Net score: Culbertsons 125.

RUBBER 46.
Hand 259—Mrs. Culbertson went down one in a four-heart contract. Net score: Culbertsons 75.

Hand 260—Culbertson made game by a four-spade contract. Net score: Culbertsons 105.

Hand 261—Jacoby was set one in a four-heart contract. Net score: Culbertsons 245.

Hand 262—On a four-heart contract Lenx made five, giving him game. Net score: Culbertsons 75.

Hand 263—Jacoby made five diamonds on a contract for three. Net score: Lenx 85.

Hand 264—Culbertson successfully contracted for five spades, giving him game and rubber. Net score: Culbertsons 620.

RUBBER 47.
Hand 265—Mrs. Culbertson succeeded in a five-heart contract, giving her game. Net score: Culbertsons 770.

Hand 266—Lenx fulfilled a contract at four diamonds. Net score: Culbertsons 600.

Hand 267—Jacoby was set three in a contract at three diamonds. Net score: Culbertsons 300.

Hand 268—In a contract for two system in reaching a slam, which was made but not bid.

The bidding:

1 Heart Pass 2 Spades Pass
3 Spades Pass Pass Pass

Using the approach-forcing system and reaching for five spades, Lenx any bid of one with a part score as forcing, the bidding on this hand should have gone:

South West North East
1 Heart Pass 1 Spade Pass
2 Spades Pass 4 Spades Pass
6 Spades Pass Pass Pass

Employment of one of the principles of the approach-forcing system by our opponents assisted them in arriving at a declaration that fitted their two hands and gave them a partial score on deal No. 9 of rubber 42 in tonight's session.

All good players of the approach-forcing system will take out partner's one bid of a suit with a negative no-trump and slightly more than an honor trick—sometimes with a bare honor-trick, if the hand seems to have possibilities.

The official system requirement for a no-trump bid over partner's suit bid is one and a half quick tricks. In the following hand, it will be noted that Mr. Lenx has, in his king of spades and king of diamonds, two half quick tricks equalling one quick trick. The hand is simply rags otherwise and has little possibility of development. The hand is as follows:

The bidding:
North East South West
1 No-trump Pass 2 No-trump Pass
2 Spades 3 Diam. Pass

Every player of the approach-forcing system will understand the interest which the North hand held for me when it went down on the board as dummy.

The first Yarborough of the match—no card higher than a 9-spot—fell to Mrs. Culbertson's lot on board No. 248. The odds against holding such a hand are 2,800 to 1. My partner's holding consisted of the following: Spades, 6, 2; hearts, 9, 7, 6, 5, 2; diamonds, 8, 7, 6, 2; clubs, 8, 5.

Our opponents arrived at a four-heart contract which has set one trick, but they scored 50 because they had 100 honors.

An opening two-bid by our opponents, the so-called game invitation or intermediate two-bid which has been heralded by the proponents of the official system as being the chief point of superiority over the approach-forcing system, resulted on one hand to-night in concealing defensive weakness in the holdings of our opponents to such an extent that we were defeated at five spades, a contract which we easily made. The hand was as follows:

The bidding:

If South could have visualized the character of North's distribution he would not have doubled. Indeed, if the bidding had been under the approach-forcing system, it would have proceeded as follows:

West North East South
Pass 1 Club 1 Spade 2 Clubs
2 Hearts 4 Clubs 4 Hearts Pass
Pass 5 Clubs 5 Hearts
Pass Pass

South, having now a clear picture of the distribution of North's hand, would never have considered doubling.

GRUENTHER'S STORY ON MATCH TUESDAY NIGHT

BY LT. ALFRED M. GRUENTHER, Chief Referee, Culbertson-Lex Bridge

(Copyright, 1931, for The Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Ely Culbertson this evening again forged into the lead over Sidney Lenx and Oswald Jacoby in their 150-rubber contract bridge tournament.

This time they remained out in front, ending the seventh session with an advantage of 410 points. Eight rubbers were played, the Culbertsons winning four of them for a net gain of 425 points.

At the start of tonight's match the Culbertsons were trailing by 15 points. Forty-eight rubbers have now been played.

Mr. Culbertson passed and Mr. Lenx opened with 2 clubs, the game invitation bid of the "official" system.

Mrs. Culbertson bid 2 spades. Mr. Jacoby 2 no-trump. Mr. Culbertson 3 spades. Mr. Lenx 4 clubs and Mr. Jacoby 4 clubs. To Mr. Culbertson it seemed quite probable that five clubs could be made by his adversaries, so he elected to make the sacrifice bid of 5 spades, which Mr. Jacoby doubled.

The Culbertson hands fitted perfectly and the contract was made with ease, the opening lead being the 6 of spades.

Both sides had difficulty tonight in visualizing slam contracts when they already had a partial score. On this deal Mr. Lenx and Mr. Jacoby were vulnerable and had a part score of 40.

Mr. Culbertson dealt and all passed around to Mr. Jacoby, who opened with two no-trump. Mr. Lenx passed and Mr. Culbertson led the queen of hearts. Mr. Jacoby had no difficulty in making six no-trump. If diamonds are ever mentioned by either Mr. Lenx or Mr. Jacoby the diamond slam will certainly be bid.

The Culbertson had a part score of 60 when this hand was dealt:

Mr. Culbertson dealt and bid one spade. Mr. Lenx passed and Mr. Culbertson responded with two hearts, which was the final bid. Six hearts were made on the opening lead of the two of diamonds. Had Mrs. Culbertson made a three-trick takeout, it is quite probable that the slam contract would have been reached. Her decision, however, was exceedingly close.

The "dibs" rule for the even break would have saved a headache for Mrs. Culbertson on this hand:

Mr. Culbertson opened with one heart and Mr. Jacoby overcalled with two diamonds. Mr. Culbertson made a forcing takeout bid of three spades in answer to which Mrs. Culbertson bid four clubs. Mr. Culbertson raised her bid to five clubs which ended the bidding.

The contract could easily be made if the club finesse was refused or if Mr. Jacoby were placed—as he happened to be—with the queen of clubs. However, Mrs. Culbertson figured that the diamond overcall by Mr. Jacoby marked him with a singleton club, so she finessed Mr. Lenx for the missing honor, thereby losing game. Four hearts could also have been made in easy fashion.

The only time the game demand bid of the "official" system was used tonight it was unsuccessful. This was the hand:

Mrs. Culbertson passed and Mr. Jacoby opened with three hearts. Mr. Culbertson and the contract was defeated, one trick. Playing the hand double dummy, it will be observed that three no-trump can be made against any defense. However, Mr. Jacoby's hand makes a return to the four-heart contract obligatory.

Culbertson passed and Mr. Lenx would have been pleased to do likewise.

However, the system required a response, so he bid three no-trump, the minimum answer. Mr. Jacoby now bid four hearts which closed the bidding.

MOTION OF WILLIAMS FOR NEW TRIAL FILED

Judge Franklin To Hear Plea of Former Minister on January 25.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 15.—(AP)—J. M. Williams, former Methodist minister under life sentence for slaying his son in an alleged insurance plot, is seeking a new trial.

Counsel for Williams filed motion for new trial today, and Judge A. L. Franklin, who sentenced Williams to life last week, set January 25 as the date for hearing.

The motion was based on grounds that the verdict of guilty was contrary to law and evidence.

Williams was tried twice on the murder charge before conviction. His son, Raiford Grady Williams, was slain while home on furlough from the navy. His body was found along a road near Augusta, and after investigation the father, then a minister at Rochelle, Ga., was arrested and charged with the crime.

The first jury was unable to agree and a mistrial was declared, but the second jury convicted Williams and he was sentenced to life imprisonment. Throughout both trials the former minister denied any knowledge as to how his son met death. He resigned from the ministry after his first trial.

Rome "Fire Bug" Sought as Flames Hit Four Homes

ROME, Ga., Dec. 15.—Police said tonight they were looking for a "fire bug" following five fires here today which they said apparently were of incendiary origin.

Four houses were discovered on fire in the outlying section on the eastern edge of Rome today. The houses were within a radius of half a mile. A fifth house caught fire from sparks from one of the four. Losses are comparatively small. The fires this morning followed others of similar nature recently. For the most part, the fires have been found in vacant houses and buildings. Police said they were advised a man was seen leaving one of the houses this morning just before a fire started, but due to darkness could not be recognized.

WIDE HUNT LAUNCHED FOR STATE CONVICTS

VALDOSTA, Ga., Dec. 15.—Valdosta officers, as well as officers throughout this section, have been requested to aid in capturing two convicts making their escape from a camp in Berrien county during the week-end.

The prisoners were working under the direction of the state highway department, and both have a considerable amount of time yet to serve. The highway department is employing the men on Berrien county work and it is stated that the two negroes walked off from the gang and were soon lost in a swamp near the camp.

SHERIFF OF CAMDEN GOES TO TRIAL TODAY

G. B. Smith Will Face Jury at Waycross on Dry Conspiracy Charge.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Sheriff G. B. Smith, of Camden county, will go to trial before Judge William H. Barrett in federal court here tomorrow, charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law. Smith is the second south Georgia sheriff to go to trial on conspiracy charges within the last few months.

Smith was indicted by the same grand jury sitting at Savannah that indicted L. Redding, United States district attorney, is now in Waycross prosecuting government cases, assisted by Dunbar Harrison, assistant district attorney.

The Smith conspiracy case is the most important on the felony calendar of the Waycross session. Smith is charged with the methods alleged to have been employed by the Liberty county sheriff, who was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary and whose case is now pending a hearing for a new trial, to obtain a new trial. Clark was sentenced to the higher courts. The Camden officer is charged with having been paid for protection of rum importation operations in his county. He is also alleged to have done in Liberty county. Others named in the indictment with Smith are fugitives from justice. Three of those indicted with Clark are fugitives, four testified for the government and another, Edgar Peyton Way, was declared not guilty in a verdict directed by Judge Barrett.

Legion Did Not Vote Wet At Convention, Melton Says

SAVANNAH, Ga., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Quimby Melton, state commander of the American Legion, said here tonight that the charge of some persons that the Detroit Legion convention voted "wet" is a misstatement of fact.

"It is just as ridiculous to say the Legion voted 'wet' as it was to say 'dry' at Detroit," Mr. Melton told a gathering of Legionnaires and members of the American Legion auxiliary from the first district of Georgia. "We voted to submit the baffling question to the people," said the Legion commander, who is editor of the Griffin Daily News. "The American Legion feels that on such controversial issues as prohibition the people of the United States should be allowed to vote."

Mr. Melton said that "many of the men who voted for resolution did so because they felt that present conditions, both economically and socially, are largely due to crimes that have grown up as companions to prohibition. They feel that crime, greed, graft and disregard for law and order are the products of the era of prohibition."

26 Georgia Cities Are Represented On University's Student Paper

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 15.—Twenty-six Georgia towns, 24 counties and three states other than Georgia are represented on the staff of the Red and Black, student newspaper of the University of Georgia. Thirty-four members of the staff are men students and six are women students. Athens leads the cities, having six students on the staff. Atlanta is second with four; Macon and Savannah tie for third place, each city having two students on the staff. The remaining 21 cities represented have only one student on the Red and Black staff. Towns represented are: Alabama, Florida and New Jersey. The editorial staff of the paper consists of Jack Withers, Atlanta, editor-in-chief; Smith, Waycross, managing editor; Harold Martin, Camden, associate editor; James Cobb, Savannah, associate editor; Janet Jarnagin, Athens, co-ed; Robert J. Reynolds, Athens, co-ed; Seymour Hirsch, Atlanta, news editor; Adolph Rosenberg, Albany, assistant news editor; Rowena Sullivan, Savannah, literary editor; Gladys Simpson, Mt. Dora, Fla., society editor; Ed Barham, Blakely, feature editor; Norton Sanders, Hawthorne, Cal., radio editor; Harold Mitchell, Athens, exchange editor.

Remarkable Work Features Report Of Hancock Agent

SPARTA, Ga., Dec. 15.—According to the annual report of County Agent S. D. Truitt, of this county, from December 1, 1930, to December 1, 1931, approximately $600,000 in the commercial value of the agent's work here during the year. This is considered a remarkable record, considering the difficulties and low prices received for most farm products. The report shows that he sold the following farm products out of the county during the year: Poultry, turkeys, etc., $725; butterfat and milk, $1,680; 628 cases of eggs, $4,082. The county agent sold farm products in the county as follows: Butterfat, 96,335 pounds; $32,588.47; 42,725 gallons whole milk, $12,682.50; 23,372 pounds of poultry, $6,993.91.

Hancock county farmers were saved $3,411 during the year on the purchase of fertilizer and seed which were bought co-operatively. Farmers of the county sold a ton of fat turkeys and about the same amount of chickens this week on the near-by city markets through the county agent.

Only the very best grades of poultry were accepted for shipment and the buyers were well pleased.

The funds received from the turkeys and chickens came at just the time of the year when most needed and the farmers who were fortunate enough to have raised them for sale had diversified farming benefits forcibly impressed upon them.

It is thought next year more farmers will practice these methods and have a "money crop" almost any time during the year, which will be an improvement over the "all-cotton" plan.

CONDEMNED SLAYER IS DENIED NEW TRIAL

MACON, Ga., Dec. 15.—Judge Malcolm D. Jones, of the Macon circuit, today refused to grant an extraordinary motion for new trial brought on behalf of Albert Jackson, negro, under sentence of death for the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Green Hartley in Peach county more than a year ago.

The motion was brought by the negro's counsel, complaining that a confession which Jackson is alleged to have made was not his own story, but one which was written by a negro named "Shorty" Anderson, now in a state chain gang camp. Jackson said he memorized the statement on Anderson's promise, alleged to have been related to him through a Peach county officer, that he (Jackson) would get off light.

TWO ARE ARRESTED IN BARFIELD SLAYING

OGLETHORPE, Ga., Dec. 15.—(AP) Although four warrants have been issued in connection with the fatal shooting of Jack Barfield, negro, in this county and the wounding of Will Chambliss, Macon county policeman, only two arrests had been made up to a late hour tonight.

George Chambliss, son of Will Chambliss, is in jail here on a charge of murder. His father is under guard at his home.

Sheriff W. T. Jolly was still searching late tonight for the other two men in connection with the affray, Archie Barfield, son of the slain man, and his cousin, Paul Barfield.

The shooting occurred Sunday night in the ideal community.

LORIDANS OPERATES HOTEL AT COLUMBUS

COLUMBUS, Ga., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Charles Loridans, owner of the Raleigh hotel property here, has announced he is now operating the hotel. ELECTION AT DUBLIN MARKED BY SHOOTING

Long Feud Climaxes When Rivals Meet; Issues Not Believed To Be Cause.

DUBLIN, Ga., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Green Miller, 60, is at the point of death in a hospital here from a bullet wound through his right lung, fired in a pistol duel at the election polls at Minter this afternoon. Another bullet shattered one of his arms.

Neal Fulford, 25, whom officers say was the other participant in the duel, was wounded in the leg and was brought here for attention of a local surgeon. Fulford was allowed to go home tonight. No arrest has been made and no warrant has been issued, it was stated.

The trouble today is said to have had no connection with the election. Officers said that the same men engaged in a duel a year ago this month.

The feud was renewed when the two chanced to meet at the election polls and at the sight of each other both drew guns and opened fire, according to reports to the sheriff's office. A blood transfusion operation was performed late tonight in an effort to save Miller's life. Doctors said that he could use only one lung and they considered his condition extremely critical.

W. C. BENTON ELECTED MAYOR OF MANSFIELD

MANSFIELD, Ga., Dec. 15.—In the city election for 1932 offices held here Monday the following ticket was voted: For mayor, W. C. Benton; for council, A. E. Hays, R. L. Epps, John C. Hays, W. P. Hodgins, J. A. Kitchens; for school board, S. M. Smith. Other members of the school board are S. R. Campbell, N. A. Morse, O. Lawrence and J. T. Lazenby.

Election in Ellijay

ELLIJAY, Ga., Dec. 15.—In one of the most heated city elections here in recent years L. L. Daugherty Jr. defeated J. H. Penland, incumbent, for mayor by a majority of 33 votes. Gordon Dover, H. W. Hampton, J. G. Cole, C. B. Kelly and Neal Green were elected council members over Ed Pinson, James Tankersley and R. C. Welch, all receiving total votes in the order named.

Of a registration of 265 there were 243 votes cast, thus making a record and showing the interest in the race. The new officials assume control of the city affairs on January 1.

Pearson Elected

WAYCROSS, Ga., Dec. 15.—(AP)—L. H. Griffin and W. B. Kirkland have been elected councilmen at Pearson, in the municipal election described as the "quietest in many years," and H. L. Lankford was elected as a member of the board of education.

Primary Is Set

WAYCROSS, Ga., Dec. 15.—The democratic primary in Atkinson county, west of Waycross, will be held on Wednesday, February 24, it has been decided by the democratic executive committee of that county. J. M. Roberts, of Willacoochee, has been elected chairman of the committee, with William Smith, of Pearson, as secretary.

Waverly Hall Elected

WAVERLY HALL, Ga., Dec. 15.—The following were elected today to look after the welfare of this city for 1932: T. E. Biggs, mayor; Ellis Storer, Clyde Simclair, Kirk Ingram, H. E. Jessup and J. A. Luttrell as councilmen. The marshal and clerk will be appointed by the council at a later date.

Oratorical Contest Will Be Conducted At U. of Georgia

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 15.—An oratorical contest for students from all Georgia colleges will be sponsored in the University of Georgia chapel January 27 by the state committee of the George Washington bicentennial commission, according to Mrs. Julius Talmadge, state chairman.

Each contestant will be required to deliver an original 12-minute oration on some phase of the life of Washington. Three winners will be given awards by the state commission and the winner of the first prize will be sent to Washington to compete in the national contest.

UNIVERSITY VACATION TO START SATURDAY

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 15.—First term examinations at the University of Georgia will end and the Christmas holidays will begin Saturday, December 19, the faculty has decided. Examinations will begin Wednesday.

This action will give university students two full weeks of holidays, since they are not required to register for the second term until Monday, January 4. Students may leave here upon the conclusion of their last examinations and thus reach home several days before Christmas.

Swimming Chief Sport Among Georgia Co-eds

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 15.—Women students of the University of Georgia prefer swimming to all other sports, according to Mrs. Mary E. L. Soule, director of physical education.

In a recent ballot to determine the favorite sport of the students, the girls voted for swimming first, with tennis running a close second.

SEED LAW VIOLATION LAID TO 2 GEORGIANS

District Attorney at Macon
Swears Out Warrant for Camilla Woman, Son.

ALBANY, Ga., Dec. 15.—Mrs. Sarah Palmer and her son, Bruce Palmer, farmers, of near Camilla, are named defendants in a warrant sworn out by District Attorney A. W. Boodle, of Macon, charging them with a conspiracy to violate the federal seed law act.

So far as could be learned, these are the first cases of alleged violation of the law which is included in the act creating the federal farm board and its various agencies.

According to the warrant sworn out by District Attorney Boodle, Mrs. Palmer borrowed about $4,150 from the federal government through Roy Harrell, of Fitzgerald, Georgia, supervisor of the loan fund, giving as security a mortgage on all crops grown on her farm. The son, Bruce Palmer, operated the same farm, but did not obtain a loan.

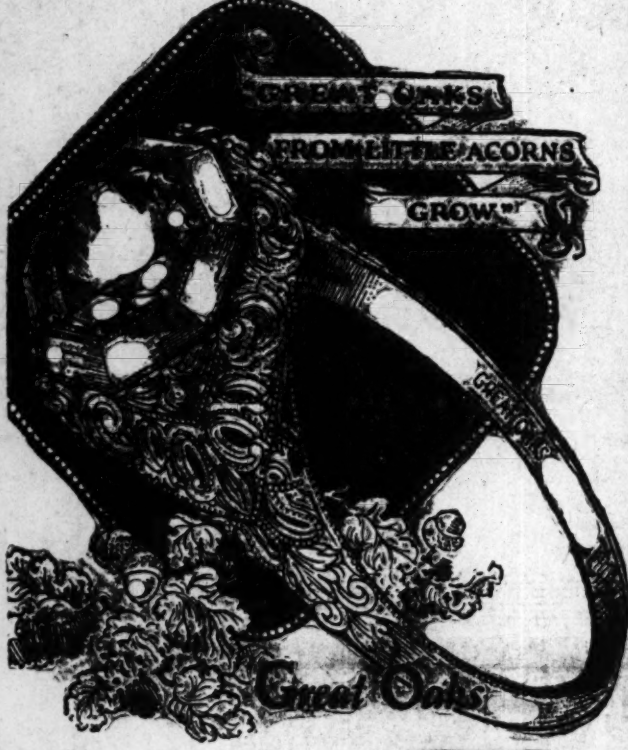

According to Harrell, young Palmer now claims to have made a large production of cotton on his part of the farm, about eight bales in all, while Mrs. Palmer reported to Harrell that she raised only one bale of cotton. The proceeds of which would not come anywhere near paying for the seed loan.

The warrant was served by Deputy Marshal C. N. Gee, of Albany, and the woman and her son brought here for questioning. They were released on their own recognizance. The preliminary hearing before Commissioner Lamar Cox, which has not yet been set.

Advice from Macon said District Attorney Boodle declared there that the federal government intended to make the Palmer case a test case in an effort to learn just how far the federal government can go to bring about payments of the seed loans.

BURNS ARE FATAL TO ATHENS WOMAN

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Her clothing ignited from an open grate, Mrs. Lydia Payne, 53, died here today from burns received at the home of her son, W. A. Payne.

Relatives said Mrs. Payne retired early last night and that she had apparently gotten up later in the night and gone to the fire. Her cries awoke members of the family, who hurried her to a hospital, but surgeons were unable to help her.

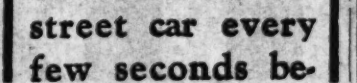

U. S. Forest Service To Get Georgia Land

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—Purchase of more than 5,000 additional acres of land in Georgia for extension of three national forest reservations in the state has been agreed upon by the national forest reservation commission, Senator W. J. Harris, of Georgia, a member of the commission, announced here today.

The three reservations are the Cherokee, Georgia and Nantahala, in the northern section of the state. The lands are located in the counties of Rabun, Murray, Lumpkin, White, Towns and Habersham.

CAPTAIN STOVALL, PIONEER, IS DEAD

Veteran Railroadman Was Prominent in Realty Circles Here.

Captain S. C. Stovall, veteran railroad conductor and real estate developer here, died Tuesday afternoon at a private hospital, where he was taken 10 days ago after suffering a stroke. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Spring Hill, Dr. S. H. C. Burgin, pastor of St. Mark Methodist church, and the Rev. Robert W. Burns, pastor of the Peachtree Christian church, will officiate. Interment will be in West View cemetery.

Widely known through 60 years of service with the Atlanta, Charleston and the Southern railroads, Captain Stovall was a prominent figure in the Atlanta real estate field. He was interested in the development of the section around the Capital City Club, of which he was a member. Stovall boulevard, in that section, was named for him.

Born in Meriwether county, he had lived here for many years. At Southern railway headquarters it was said that he was the third oldest employee in point of years of service in the company. He had been for many years in charge of such trains as the Crescent Limited, and others.

He had many personal friends among the business leaders of this city, and was prominent in religious work. At the time of his death he was a steward in St. Mark church.

Although Captain Stovall had not been actively engaged in railroad work for the last five years, he was still listed as an active employee. He resided at Peachtree road and Club drive, in the vicinity of his development.

Besides his wife, he is survived by one son, Samuel C. Stovall Jr., of New York city; and a brother, George W. Stovall, of Atlanta.

Prohi Referendum Is Urged by Shouse, On Brief Visit Here

Because prohibition has split both big parties in the country, there should be a referendum to settle a question that continues to vex the political thought of the United States at the expense of far more disturbing questions.

So said Jonett Shouse, chairman of the democratic national executive committee, while in Atlanta for a short time Tuesday en route by airplane to Birmingham to address the Alabama state committee.

"Prohibition is, of course, not the only question that is disturbing us," Shouse said. "It is not even the most important but, unfortunately, it is elemental in that too many partisans on either side are unable to discuss it calmly or to act on it impartially with the natural result that it attains a magnitude far beyond what it deserves."

"I know of no action," he said, "at least within the last 70 years which transcends in importance the one for which we are now preparing. Not only is our own prosperity at stake but with world conditions as they are, with the very capital system itself threatened by world developments, it may be the province of the democratic party to preserve American institutions as we know them."

For the next campaign Shouse predicted that a legislative program to relieve the 7,000,000 unemployed would be a paramount issue. Although he advocated a referendum, he declared prohibition should not be allowed to divide the party. On this he said:

"The prohibition question rifts both parties. It is essential that there should be an opportunity to obtain the actual sentiment of a majority of our people on the question which otherwise will plague us indefinitely. If the majority sentiment of the country is dry, certainly no peril is involved in an expression of opinion. If it be wet, certainly such a majority is entitled to utterance."

For the solidarity now obtaining among congressional democrats, Shouse paid a high tribute to Representative Charles R. Crisp, of Americus. He was accompanied on his air trip to Birmingham by Carter Sterling, democratic finance director in Mississippi, and Silliman Evans, publicity director for American Airways.

Astronomer Raps Pickering's 'Planet' As Inconsequential

ROME, Dec. 15.—(UP)—Professor Raffaele Bendandi, astronomer and forecaster of earthquakes, announced today that the planet predicted by Professor William H. Pickering, of Jamaica, as well as the so-called "Pluto," discovered in Lowell observatory two years ago, were not planets to be classed with the eight major bodies of the solar system.

"Pluto," said Professor Bendandi, "has been proven an asteroid, or a minor star. There are four new planets of gigantic size beyond Neptune, which I already announced on March 25 and 26, 1930. I have found nothing since to change that announcement, but neither Professor Pickering's discovery nor that of the Lowell observatory indicate that they have fixed one of the four planets." Professor Bendandi has just finished his book, "A Fundamental Principle of the Universe," which fixed the position of his first planet beyond Neptune in line with his announcement of last year.

DEANS RECEIVERSHIP DISSOLVED BY COURT

A receivership recently appointed for the estate of the late Robert E. Deans, of Atlanta, who died in January, 1928, was dissolved Tuesday by Judge E. D. Thomas in Fulton superior court on the petition of attorneys for plaintiff, G. E. Cause, of Detroit. The attorneys declined to state on what grounds the action was withdrawn.

The action was sought by Cause, who alleged that he was a creditor of the late Frank Deans, son and heir of Robert Deans, and that with the death of the former the estate was without an administrator. At the time the temporary administrators named by Judge Thomas were Hugh Howell and R. E. Gardner. The Deans estate has been in litigation here in an attempt to set up the first of two wills, but the will was not admitted to probate by Judge John D. Humphries on the grounds that a witness to the will was missing. Mrs. Frances E. Leuchtenberg, of Detroit, former wife of Deans, is at present the heir to the estate through her son.

Causes of Business Slump Discussed by Dr. S. I. Miller

Need for Definite Standard Cited by Economist of R. G. Dun & Company.

Causes of the present business depression, and the need for a definite standard to guide those entering business, were discussed Tuesday by Dr. Stephen I. Miller, director of the department of economics of R. G. Dun & Co., who was in Atlanta as the guest of the local unit of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

Dr. Miller predicted that the depression would run its course in 1932. He compared it to the panics of 1873 and 1893, each of which lasted three years.

Dr. Miller was the guest of H. E. Choate and Paul Millians, president of the local chapter of accountants, at a luncheon at the Capital City Club Tuesday, Tuesday night he was a dinner guest of the accountants at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Former A. I. B. Director. He was introduced to the luncheon guests by Mr. Choate as having been connected formerly with the National Association of Credit Men in an executive capacity; as the educational director of the American Institute of Banking, former dean of the school of economics of the Washington State University, and, incidentally, a classmate of President Hoover at Leland Stanford.

In an informal talk to the guests Dr. Miller emphasized the need for a business laboratory for the expert analysis of business problems. A fifth of the business concerns of the United States, or a total of 400,000, voluntarily withdraw from business every year, he said.

"The cost of operating the country's retail business is $15,000,000,000 annually; of operating its wholesale business, $7,000,000,000; of marketing its farm products, $7,000,000,000," he said.

"The exorbitant cost of doing business and the large number of withdrawals is due to inefficiency and lack of capital on the part of people entering business. These two conditions are making a shambles of industry."

Causes of Depression. He gave three major causes of the depression. First, inequality of wage reductions, and the mistaken belief of government officials that the depression would be only temporary. As part of the inequality of liquidation he cited the belated lowering of wages. Second, the belief of farmers in the miraculous power of legislation, and third, the foreign situation, with its war debts, tariff and the segregation of the world's gold supply in two countries.

"But we may expect to see improvement in 1932 provided there is no governmental tampering with the laws of supply and demand," Dr. Miller said.

"The first rift will come next spring. Some government legislation was all right, Mr. Miller said. He thought that the act allowing the railroads to pool their resources was a good one.

Fox Theater To Be Host at Party To 'Living Tree' Contest Winner

BY BEN COOPER.

The Fox Theater Tuesday stirred up intense rivalry in the various groups of the Camp Fire Girls by offering a theater party to the group turning in the largest number of names of persons who will light living trees this Christmas. The contest ends at noon December 23, and the theater party will be given on Christmas Eve.

The Sears-Robuck market did its bit toward success of the movement by donating a living tree to the Camp Fire office on the fifth floor of the Davidson-Paxon Company. This tree, a Canadian hemlock, will be decorated for the pleasure of those visiting the office, and after Christmas it will be planted at the Camp Fire Girls' camp at Toxoca.

The Camp Fire Girls, sponsors of the Light and Living Trees movement in co-operation with The Constitution, ask persons who plan to light trees to notify either the Camp Fire Girls, Walnut 3738, or The Constitution, Walnut 6565. Anyone desiring to help a certain group of Camp Fire Girls in winning the theater party should mention this group in calling in names for publication.

Among those who will light trees are Mrs. Charles Ryckley, 208 Spencer street, East Point; Howard L. Carmichael, East Point; Mrs. Nettie Dickey, owner of the Dickey hotel, Murphy, N. C. (two trees); the veterans' hospital on Peachtree road; Mrs. J. T. Horwell, 1429 Peachtree street; Henrietta Eggleston Memorial hospital; Fort McPherson; Mrs. J. M. Christian, 672 Linwood avenue, N. E.; Mrs. L. S. Jackson, 1011 Martin street; Mrs. A. C. Knight, 202 Nelson Ferry road, Decatur; Mrs. W. M. Nichols, Woodlawn avenue, Decatur; Spelman University; Martha Griffith, 736 Peoples street, S. W.

The Geoloha group of Glenwood school, Decatur, reports these names: Mrs. W. P. Carpenter, 1498 Fairview road; Mrs. Warren Candler, 1633 North Decatur road; Mrs. W. E. Waddell, 223 Geneva street, Decatur; the Atlanta Athletic Club; L. W. Taylor, 133 Superior street, Decatur; J. E. Purcell, 177 Michigan avenue, Decatur; P. O. Skelton, 262 Atlanta avenue; H. W. Schafer, 13 Exeter road; Mrs. E. W. Brady, 212 Huron; Mrs. C. Pope, 208 Huron street; Mrs. George Rusk, 119 Champlain circle; Mrs. D. W. Leary, 201 Superior street; Mrs. S. L. Threadgill, 216 Superior avenue, and Mrs. C. M. Sanders, 176 Superior avenue.

—I know Camel is the fresh cigarette!

Here's why they're FRESH!

CAMELS are never parched or toasted

THERE is of course a sound reason why the Camel Humidor Pack can deliver to Camel smokers a cigarette that is genuinely fresh.

Camels are made fresh to start with, fresh with natural moisture — blended of the choicest, delicately mild, full-mellow, sun-ripened tobaccos that money can buy.

The full natural goodness of these fine tobaccos is safeguarded at every step in their handling — they are never parched or toasted — the Reynolds method of scientifically applying heat guarantees against that.

That's why we can say with every assurance that Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh — not parched or toasted — and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

The delights of a genuinely fresh cigarette are so rare and desirable that Camel popularity continues to mount daily to new highs.

Test these delights for yourself — see what true freshness means in cool, slow-burning, delicate mildness — switch to Camels for just one day, then leave them — if you can.

Good Samaritan Winners In Church Contest Disclosed

Western Heights Baptist and Three Others Get Weekly Prizes.

With considerably more than 1,000,000 votes cast as the basis for considering the winners of that phase of the Good Samaritan Campaign which closed last Saturday night, the following churches, in their order, shared in the distribution of the $130 which is the amount of the weekly prizes for 25 weeks of the campaign:

First place, $40, Western Heights Baptist church, W. M. Albert, pastor, and Mrs. F. R. Martin, chairman.

Second place, $35, Capitol View Baptist church, Mrs. O. E. Acree, chairman.

Third place, $25, West End Baptist church, Fidelis class, Mrs. J. J. Hennerly, chairman.

Fourth place, $12, Epworth Methodist church, Mrs. F. O. George, chairman.

Voting in the campaign in its fourth phase reached its highest peak and it is expected that there will continue to be an increased number of votes with each succeeding phase until the end of the campaign.

A number of the organizations which entered early have not as yet secured the momentum and are already behind some of the later entries. In almost every case the officers are proceeding with their organization work with a view to making a large and consistently good showing when they get going.

More than 40 churches and charity organizations have entered officially, each securing to their credit a bonus of 10,000 votes which are added to the first votes cast in favor of the church or charity.

The Good Samaritan Campaign was made possible through the cooperation of more than 50 local businesses and national advertisers who were desirous of helping churches and charities without putting the participants to any unnecessary trouble beyond the mere saving of the evidences of purchases from these firms. In some cases these were cash register receipts, in others duplicate sales slips, or specially printed coupons. The labels of advertised brands in the case of purchases from these firms, in some cases these were cash register receipts, in others duplicate sales slips, or specially printed coupons. The labels of advertised brands in the case of purchases from these firms, in some cases these were cash register receipts, in others duplicate sales slips, or specially printed coupons.

A vote value of one vote for each penny of expenditure is fixed as the value for purchases for the purposes of the vote competition.

In the case of advertised brands, the labels, wrappers and cartons, when voted, carry a value up to their maximum retail price, and these are good for voting purposes wherever they are purchased. The maximum value is carried regardless of the actual price.

TRUNK HIGHWAYS FIRST.

There is source for general gratification at the withdrawal by the plaintiffs of the injunction suit against the state highway department, which, if made permanent, would have handicapped the board in its efforts to rush to completion the great through highway system on which it is now working.

Chairman Barnett is unquestionably correct in his position that it was the purpose of the legislature to insure that precedence be given to the state's trunk highways, running from border to border, north and south and east and west, and connecting most of the towns and smaller cities with the larger centers towards which the majority of travel is directed.

The present highway board is composed of able businessmen, representing different sections of the state, and the only sensible thing to do is to permit them, as they request, to "carry on the announced program of equalization, in accordance with assurances given, and with due regard to their obligations to match federal funds."

Had the board not centered its activities during the present year on the construction of through highways, the state would have lost the benefit derived from much of the $4,000,000 of federal aid funds received by Georgia during the past 12 months, for federal aid is given only to through highways, and such as are approved by the federal highway department.

The suit filed in Athens has had the worth-while effect of clearing the situation as to the authority of the highway board, which, with its hands untied, may now go about the business of pushing to early completion its plans for a trunk system of highways that will benefit the state, and serve every section of it.

SOVIET "DUMPING" BEGINS.

The extent to which the foreign trade of the United States is likely to suffer as the result of the "dumping" of soviet articles of commerce is pointed out by the Washington Post in commenting upon the arrival at a Chinese port of two Russian ships of wheat, one carrying 7,000 tons of wheat and the other 3,000,000 gallons of oil.

In citing the threat to American trade in the report that these two shipments are merely forerunners of larger ones to follow, the Post says:

Last year China imported 183,688 tons of wheat, of which 37,037 tons came from the United States. Due to the unusual food shortage caused by the floods, the United States has contracted to send 450,000 tons of wheat to China this year. Of the 183,688 tons of wheat, which China bought last year, 123,200,000 gallons came from American companies.

In view of the experience of American concerns in Harbin, the chief commercial city of Manchuria, and which is largely under Russian dominance, there is ample room for misgiving as to what may happen to our trade in China proper.

Every American petroleum company has operated in Harbin this year at a loss as a result of the placing of soviet oil on the market at a price below actual cost of production of the American oil. The same competition has been met by American cotton goods, Russian goods of the same nature having been put on the market at prices even lower than those at which they were sold in Russia.

These "dumping" tactics have already been successful in crippling the sale of American and European

THE WORLD'S WINDOW

BY PIERRE VAN PAASSEN

Demonstration.

The gigantic peace demonstration held in the Trocadero palace in Paris was a complete failure. True, the speakers were all there: Bishop Kans and Professor Quide for Germany; Jovenel and Herriot for France; Luchinsky for Russia; Hollanders, Spaniards, Italians and Englishmen led by Lord Robert Cecil, but a few thousand nationalist students made such a persistent and deafening din that not a single speech was understood.

At the same time a protest meeting was held elsewhere in the city. Here two general speakers and here the shout of "Down With the Germans!" was taken up again. Serious fighting broke place in both gatherings. It was obvious that there are forces in France, as well as in Germany, who have no intention to work for an international understanding and a reconciliation of the two chief nations of the continent.

The French nationalists point to Hitler and say: "See that fellow. He doesn't want peace. He will fall upon us the first chance he gets!" And vice versa, Hitlerians refer to the intransigent attitude of the French nationalists. It is a vicious circle, which may become the undoing of civilization.

The atmosphere at present does not augur well for the coming disarmament conference. France is still talking of placing her own security before everything else. She will hear of no revision of the peace treaties. And so the tension in Europe increases. There is a distinct feeling that disaster may be lurking around the corner, as everybody in 1913 knew that war was coming.

The peace of Europe is a very precarious and fragile affair at the present moment. Sometimes it seems that there is no way out. One solution remains and one only and this one will not fail. It has not been tried, although it was offered humanity 2,000 years ago. It is this:

We must learn to consider a question which concerns the salvation of humanity not from any given national point of view. Whoever loveth father or mother, land or good, more than Me is not worthy of Me, said the Master. The Kingdom of God is the Christian's fatherland. That alone he must seek to build, not neglecting his earthly fatherland, but fitting the latter into the framework of a universal humanity.

CHIANG FALLS.

The resignation under fire of President Chiang Kai-shek of China is of deeper significance than as being merely incident to the Sino-Japanese controversy. Rather it marks the culmination of a governmental overthrow, which has been inevitable for some time.

Resentment toward Chiang on the part of several so-called war lords started almost at the inception of his assumption of office as the head of a party pledged to the enforcement of the three great democratic principles of government, of, for, and by the people, which had been incorporated in the new Chinese constitution by the inspired Sun Yat Sen.

But instead of attempting to put these principles into immediate effect, Chiang announced a period of "tutelage" during which the people would be "prepared" for democratic government—meanwhile proceeding to strengthen his own control over the kuomintang party—which was dominated by himself and members of his family.

The first principle was violated by the refusal to permit elections; the second by the pouring of the revenues of the country into Nanking for the benefit and continuance in power of the existing government while the people continued to suffer from lack of proper governmental service; and the third by the centering of power in a small clique composed almost entirely of members of the president's family.

To all intents and purposes China had merely passed from Manchu control to the domination of another dynasty.

Many of China's railroads a decade ago were amongst the finest in the world, while her rivers and ports were kept constantly open. Now many of her harbors are unusable and her rail communications are badly crippled.

Along with the "tutelage" for the down-trodden people went an equally widely publicized movement for the "unification" of all Chinese leaders so that a strong central government could be set up. But this unification was not attempted in a give-and-take spirit, the mailed hand being brought into play with those reluctant to being gobbled up. Some were shot, others imprisoned.

Soon those leaders who had been too wily to put themselves in the power of Chiang took to the fields with their armies. As soon as one insurrection was put down, another would crop up somewhere else.

Not until a year ago was the "unification" process declared completed, but hardly had the accompanying tumult died down before the government awoke to find a rebellious army at the very gates of Nanking, disaffected leaders in the rich and strong southern provinces having started the movement to which can be chiefly attributed the resignation of Chiang.

The new government has not as yet made known its policy with reference to the Manchurian situation, but it is not expected that even the most hot-headed of Chinese leaders would be foolish enough to provoke a serious conflict with Japan, in which they could not hope to be anything but the loser.

On the contrary, it is probable that President Chiang's resignation will hasten the reaching of an agreement between the two countries whereby peaceful relations can be resumed in Manchuria.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

Demonstration.

Imagine snow holding up production in Hollywood? But this is exactly what has happened here to several companies making out-door scenes for westerns. The hills around Hollywood had enough snow to make a swell winter scene, but the directors dared not take the chance of its remaining long enough to provide a background that would last throughout the picture.

And sure enough they were right! It proved to be a two-day affair, which entitles us to call it "most unusual weather."

Dolores Del Rio will have to pay George Jessel's legal attorney, some $16,000 for "legal expenses," "loyalty and extra," despite her attempt to prove in court that this was an unwarranted fee.

The judge in the case complimented Miss Del Rio as being "above the average intelligence, but temperamental and not especially crafty in the fine art of business."

But what a compliment when you have to sign such a check?

"Box-office" is, and always has been, the basis on which a film is judged a failure or a success. Granting that the picture "The Sign of the Cross" didn't bring in the money, yet these are not the films that interest the producers. And rightly so, as they're running a business that has to be put on a firm financial basis, the same as any other business.

Of which it is by way of saying that "Possessed," the M-G-M film starring Joan Crawford and Clark Gable, is a box-office success.

ARNOLD IS GIVEN STATE G. O. P. POST

National Committeewoman Williams arose in her place and demanded to be heard.

Delivering a brief diatribe against recognizing Mr. Arnold, she offered a motion to table the matter, making veiled threats of retaliation against anyone who dared to vote for him in such states as Indiana, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois, Massachusetts and New Jersey, which she said had not been tried, although it was offered humanity 2,000 years ago. It is this:

We must learn to consider a question which concerns the salvation of humanity not from any given national point of view. Georgia Heroes Of the World War

BY SERGEANT L. E. JAECKEL (All Rights Reserved)

FREDERICK HAHN, second lieutenant, Seventh Field Artillery, First Division, American Expeditionary Force, awarded the distinguished service cross for extraordinary heroism in action with the enemy near Cantigny, France, May 28 to 30, 1918.

Lieutenant Hahn unhesitatingly went into heavy shell fire to supervise the repair of telephone lines and acted as runner when further maintenance of the wires became an impossibility. These tasks under the hazardous conditions could have been delegated to a subordinate, but this fearless officer undertook the dangers voluntarily and with calm courage and devotion to duty.

Residence at appointment, Savannah, Ga.

While no one could be found with a willingness to be quoted, many of the southern republican leaders stated very frankly privately that the seating of Mr. Arnold today might be compared to the seating of a traitor in the republic's place on a lily white basis.

ARNOLD FORMER DEMOCRAT AND KU KLUX LEADER

James W. Arnold, who today was elected republican national committeeman from Georgia, the first white man to occupy that position in many years, was a democrat until a few years ago, when he became interested in the affairs of the G. O. P. state organization, possibly through M. O. Dunning, with whom Mr. Arnold was associated for some time in the Ku Klux Klan. Mr. Arnold was a high district leader of the Klan in its palmy days.

The new committeeman's last foray in politics as a democrat occurred several years ago, when he was elected to the legislature for the district embracing Clarke, Walton and Oconee counties. He is a native of Walton county, and was defeated by the Clarke county committee, however, on the grounds that he had not been an attorney long enough to meet the requirement.

While he showed occasional interest in politics, and was one of the principal supporters of Hoke Smith when the late Georgian ran in the presidential preference primary of 1916, he subsequently forsook election as senator.

Mr. Arnold began the practice of law about 10 years ago. He became interested in republican politics about the same time, and was elected to the Georgia legislature in 1920, having been regarded as an ally of the Ben Davis faction of the party, although several months ago it was reported that the "lily whites" and the Davis faction agreed on Arnold's nomination for national committeeman in return for the Davis faction's support in election of a "lily white" as state chairman.

Mr. Arnold is said to have made a strong impression on the "big guns" of the republican party in Washington and has been quite active in various appointments of the party to the session of the national committee in Washington. His appearance, self-assurance and shrewdness have been favorable to his political career, and he is regarded as being quite capable of appointment as federal judge of the middle Georgia district, a position which went to W. J. Tilson, of Atlanta, and later to Judge B. S. Deaver, of Macon.

Mr. Arnold is connected with a family which has for many years occupied a leading role in the affairs of the district. He has a bluff, friendly manner, and is believed to have a strong following in the section.

Mr. Arnold is an alumnus of the University of Georgia.

J. T. Rose Among Spectators.

During the brief recess created at the session of the national committee by the national committeewoman from Georgia, Mr. Arnold and Josiah T. Rose, of Atlanta, state chairman and internal revenue collector for Georgia, were interested spectators. Both Mr. Rose and Mr. Arnold have been in Washington since Sunday in preparation for today's meeting. Neither, however, was expected to see serious opposition develop.

The term of the Athens man will expire with the meeting of the next year, and he will not be re-elected. It is expected, however, that he will be re-elected for a full four-year term, and he will carry on the work after a compromise by the various competing factions in the state organization.

statement said, "it is our understanding that he recognizes that these inequalities exist and that he has heretofore set about to equalize the districts and intends to proceed with that program as rapidly as possible."

Emphasis on this understanding was given in a statement signed by Sam Matthews, J. D. Kilpatrick, Tom Shackelford, J. R. Potts and former Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, highway board members.

"We are glad to assure our brethren," the joint statement said, "that our understanding of the testimony given by Chairman Barnett, in behalf of the state, and which is in thorough accord with their statement of the same."

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

THE MAINTENANCE OF BODY HEAT.

A reader sends in an odd clipping which purports to be an article by "doctors," whose name I have never before heard and cannot find in the American Medical Directory, which lists almost all the physicians of the United States and Canada. I suspect this bird is a fake "doctor," for his or her name is given at the head of the item simply as "Dr. Blank."

That's how a well-known character who gives the public advice about diet and health gets away with it—he invariably calls himself "Dr. Blank," and never Blank, M. D., for, of course, the fakes are not a physician at all, and he pretends to pose as a "doctor," with the kind co-operation of the publishers who are in the racket with him, in order to retain the confidence of the uneducated laity.

This new masked mystery gives readers the facts about "Wet Feet." The nub of the article is in this paragraph:

"It is a fact that if we get the feet wet and less chilled, there is a general disturbance of the whole circulation, and the entire body loses more heat than it should."

This is unique physiology. Probably the masked mystery has a secret system of physiology for his or her own private use.

According to ordinary physiology or actual measurements of as many cases as I like, there is no appreciable change of body temperature or loss of body heat accompanying or following such wetting of the feet.

Lucky for us a wetting of the feet and legs means a minimum of loss of body heat, for if that were true, it would be as much as a person's life is worth to get caught in a shower or to go in swimming.

Ah, but the masked marvel has the trusty old evasive dodge for that—if one is careful to get into dry clothes to rub the wet feet or put them in warm bath, immediately after the chilling, no harm is done. That leaves us baffled again, for nobody enjoys having his feet or hands so wet all the time, and sooner or later he is bound to get dry and comfortable.

In short, I hold that all these assertions are no more than people believe in taking "cold" from ordinary everyday exposure to cold, drafts or wet or dampness, have a sane notion that people are all imbeciles.

Winston Churchill Is Much Improved

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Direct improvement in the condition of Winston Churchill, British statesman injured in a taxicab accident, was reported by his physicians today.

Mr. Winston Churchill slept well, read a bulletin issued at the Lenox hospital shortly after noon. "He looks and feels much better. Temperature 98.6. Condition of pleura satisfactory."

The bulletin was signed by Dr. Otto C. Pickhardt and Dr. Foster Kennedy, who have been in attendance since Churchill was struck by the car in Fifth avenue Sunday night, and in internal disorders called into consultation today.

Azana Announces Spain's New Cabinet

MADRID, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Premier Manuel Azana formed the first constitutional cabinet of the Spanish republic today.

The cabinet, as announced by the premier, is as follows:

Prime Minister, Manuel Azana, state.

Jaime Carner, treasury.

Jose Giral, marine.

Santiago Casares Quiroga, interior.

Bernardo de Los Rios, public instruction.

Francisco Largo Caballero, labor.

Indalecio Prieto, public works.

Marcelino Domingo, agriculture.

The cabinet had not yet been selected. Selection of Don Luis de Zulueta, 52-year-old professor of pedagogy and journalist, as foreign minister was a surprise. It also was no surprise because it excluded from the government Alejandro Lerroux, who had been foreign minister since the establishment of the republic and who also has been president of the League of Nations council.

Broadcast of Opera To Begin Christmas

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Christmas Day was set officially today for the first broadcast of an opera from the stage of the Metropolitan opera house over National Broadcasting Company wave-lengths to listeners in every clime.

The broadcast was announced, will be "Hansel and Gretel," and will be the first of three during the holidays. M. H. Aylesworth, president of NBC, said a two-year contract had been signed.

Japanese headquarters also reported a force of 2,000 Chinese irregulars moving on Chingchiang. The Chinese, a communique said, had sent letters threatening their intention to relieve the city from the "atrocious oppression" of the Japanese army.

Japanese authorities also declared that 2,000 Chinese guerrillas were advancing on Yingkow and that a Japanese detachment had gone out to meet them.

You Are Armed as Well as Your Neighbor If Neither Is Armed

By Robert Quillen

In all parts of the civilized world, rich and poor are groaning under the cruel burden of armaments.

No one escapes. Those who pay little or no direct tax are burdened with that tax in other ways passed on to them in the increased cost of everything they must buy.

The people everywhere cry for relief, yet nothing is done and nothing can be done while statesmen and lay reformers waste their energy in an effort to mend matters in an impossible way.

It is impossible to end warfare.

So long as men remain selfish, they will think themselves unjustly treated; apparent injustice will enrage them; and, being enraged, they will fight.

If the law and its servants are unable to prevent murder and homicide in a land of peace, why hope that any authority established by men can prevent conflict between antagonistic, jealous and fear-ridden races?

Experience has shown that treaties are mere scraps of paper. Men threatened with death forget rules and agreements.

So long as human nature remains unchanged, no power under Heaven can prevent the ugly business of war.

Why not confess the truth? Men make no progress by fooling themselves or playing the hypocrite. The first essential in solving any problem is to face the facts.

ARMS SLASH HIT AS PEACE MEANS

Russia's Offer in 1927 Draws Warm Praise by W. G. McAdoo.

DALLAS, Texas, Dec. 15.—(P)—The United States is desiring itself, William G. McAdoo said in an address tonight, if it believes a reduction in armaments, unless accompanied by profound economic adjustment, would end wars.

Speaking before students of the Southern Methodist University, the son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson observed that 12 years after the signing of the Versailles treaty "the obligations of this treaty not only remain unfulfilled, but the leading nations of Europe are maintaining greater armaments and a more staggering burden of waste and taxation than that which preceded the World War."

He expressed belief that "no effective plan of disarmament can be made unless Russia is taken into the family of nations," and said that, had he been a delegate to the Geneva disarmament conference in 1927, he would have accepted Russia's offer wholly to disarm herself at its full value.

He predicted that any effort on the part of the United States to purchase world peace by cancellation of World War debts with the promise that the nations of Europe abolish their armies and navies would result in failure.

"To abolish war effectively," he said, "we must contrive to lessen the intense economic tension which is, in this era, one of the outstanding characteristics of our civilization."

Observing that "Europe today is a military camp, a nest of explosives, an arsenal of guns and munitions," McAdoo remarked that it "is a singular fact that amid all the world-wide talk of disarmament, only one great nation has made an official proposal for complete and universal disarmament on land and sea and in the air."

ROOSEVELT TO SPEAK AT DEMOCRATIC DINNER

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(P)—Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt will speak at a victory dinner January 14, at which the democratic national committee's victory campaign will be launched in New York state.

Others in the six cars are a 1927 Chevrolet sedan, for which C. F. Hinton has bid $52.50; a 1927 Dodge sedan; 1929 Ford Tudor, and a 1929 Essex sedan.

Electric Holding Companies Exposed in U. S. Power Quiz

Federal Trade Commission Report to Congress Will Name Concerns in Georgia, Other States.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(P)—When the trade commission reports to congress on its investigation of the financial structure of the country's vast utilities, individual companies of Georgia and other southern states will be included.

What conclusions the commission will reach and recommendations it will make as a result of its long senate-ordered study still under way have not been intimated. No final report has been made and several companies, such as the Georgia Power & Light Company and Florida Power Corporation, have yet to be examined in open hearing on the reports which are being prepared by examiners in the field.

How the big utility groups have extended into the south as well as other sections was brought out in hearings held during the last fiscal year and recapitulated by the commission in its annual report this week.

The Southeastern Power & Light Company was investigated for 12 days. The annual report said "All of the companies controlled by the Southeastern Power & Light Company are interconnected and constitute a unified system of electric transmission lines operating in South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Florida."

Holding Company Makeup. The subsidiaries examined included the Southeastern Securities Company, Georgia Power Company and Alabama Power Company.

"A holding company known as the Southeastern Power & Light Company until recently controlled operating companies in Mississippi, Alabama and northwestern Florida, South Carolina and Georgia," the commission reported.

"The principal subsidiaries were Mississippi Power Company, in Mississippi; Alabama Power Company, in Alabama; Gulf Electric Company, in Florida; and Georgia Power Company, in Georgia; and Southeastern Securities Company and another subsidiary serving as a temporary financing company and as intermediary for handling companies and properties in process of merger and consolidation were also the subjects of a hearing."

"Control of Southeastern Power & Light Company was obtained by the Commonwealth and Southern Corporation in December, 1929."

The report called attention to the fact that the activities of Southeastern Power & Light Company and its subsidiaries with respect to municipal ownership and other matters referred to in the 1928 Walsh resolution were brought out in the hearings.

Hearings in 1930, 1931. The Georgia Power Company and Alabama Power Company, including its contractual relations with the government for Muscle Shoals power, subsidiary companies to Southeastern Power & Light Company, were subjects of hearings from December 2, 1930, to January 27, 1931.

"The commission said 'Considerable testimony was brought forth regarding the activities of these companies in regard to publicity and propaganda.'"

The spread of major utilities groups into Georgia and other southern sections has been reflected in hearings during recent weeks on the Middle West Utilities Company and other companies.

Reporting on the interstate movement of electric energy by the Middle West group, Examiner Harry H. Carter testified the most important movement across state boundaries was 16.27 per cent over the Kentucky-Virginia line with 11.28 per cent of its total interstate between Florida and Georgia the second most important.

It was brought out the states in which the Middle West group and its subsidiaries operated in 1930, as shown by "Poor's Manual," included such southern states as Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Virginia.

Examiner Harry P. Carter, reporting on the same company, said of the net movement of 434,710,147 kilowatt hours electric power moved interstate, the major movements included those across the Florida-Georgia, Kentucky-Virginia, and Louisiana-Arkansas boundaries.

The National Electric Power Company, a sub-holding company of the Middle West group, is one on which reports will be presented in hearings later. It operates in Florida, Georgia, Virginia and other states.

Stock Transactions. Hearings have been held on the United Public Service Company, operating in Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Mississippi, Texas and other states. The majority of the common stock was reported bought by Middle West in 1929. Reports on this and the United Public Utilities Company, subsidiary holding company of United Public Service, will be among those eventually going to congress.

The commission has been told by its examiner that a comparison of the investments as of September 30, 1930, and the investments recorded May 1, 1927, of the latter company shows that the increase in investments has been entirely due to additional purchases of common stocks. This company serves Georgia, Louisiana and Arkansas, among other states.

In reporting on the United Public Service Company, a commission examiner explained particularly a transaction in which he said the company received common stock of United Public Utilities Company and Southern Utilities Gas and Southern Utilities Ice Companies, totaling $7,950,000, for which United issued its own securities to Thompson, Ross and Company, who in return received various securities valued at $10,900,000.

The examinations were Thompson-Ross realized a large amount of cash from the sale of these securities.

There they are, a specter for your eyes unless you help. On the other hand, they will become a bright example of that which human love and sympathy do to lift a fallen brother and sister from destitution. Thin little children with white faces and undernourished bodies—helpless in the extreme.

Is your heart made of stone, Atlanta? Are you going to be selfish with those blessings which stand between you and their condition? Look upon these children of destitution and say, "There, but for the grace of God, goes I."

Child Is Near Death With Bead in Lung

A spark of life Tuesday was being kept in the body of 10-month-old Thomas Downs with oxygen, which was pumped into the little boy's lungs through a silver tube, doctors at the Georgia Baptist hospital, where he was brought Monday, said. The infant inhaled a tiny glass bead Sunday while playing in the parents' home in Columbus, Ga.

He was given only a fighting chance to live, since pneumonia set in following a swelling of the throat caused by an infection. Physicians are unable to reach the bead with the bronchoscope because of the swelling, they said. A crisis is expected within the next few days, it was stated.

Thomas was brought here Monday after doctors at Columbus were unable to reach the bead. An operation was performed immediately here and an incision was made in the little child's throat through which the tube was inserted and life-giving oxygen has been pumped into his lungs for the past 48 hours. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Downs.

The Marriage Racket

By VINA DELMAR

INSTALLMENT XI.

Irma looked away from Mildred's earnest young face only to confront the grinning countenance of Scott. His grin revealed that both he and Mildred were aware that Mademoiselle had acted upon Irma's orders. Mildred was telling her in a nice, innocent way what the Averys thought of her. Well, there was no point in arguing about it. Just by a lucky chance, nothing had happened to Martin, and they'd probably been as decent to him as such young, careless people would know how to be. She'd hold her tongue.

"You see," Mildred went on, "I have an idea that I know how to raise kids."

"You probably do," said Irma, peacefully.

"I know how to raise them and keep them happy."

"One year of being a mother has given you a lot of confidence," Irma said.

"One year of being a mother and several weeks of being Martin's foster mother."

"I'm glad I saw you at the in-between age, Mildred, or I'd think you were 40 instead of 10."

"I'm almost 20," As a matter of fact Mildred Avery looked older than Irma. She used to make-up and her fine golden hair was drawn into a bun at the back of her head. Her beauty could not so easily be hidden, but it was a curiously mature beauty with an amazing depth of intelligence and sympathy.

Irma shook her head. "I might have known you were different."

"Why?" asked Mildred.

"Because nobody ever nicknamed you Millie. You're just the type to go through life as Mildred. You're a funny kid."

"Isn't she?" asked Scott. "She has her baby, your baby, she's going to have another one and two days a week she takes care of the babies in the Margaret Trent nursery."

"What's that?"

"O, a place where working women can leave their babies for a nickel a day. The young mothers of Thrace who can afford the time and a few dollars run it."

"My God," said Irma. "You should be sainted. What do you do with your baby while you're mending other people's?"

"Take him with me."

"Did you take mine?"

"Certainly. He was heartbroken that we didn't go every day."

Irma smiled to a little chintz-hung room that night with much to think about. The Averys had no doubt taken good care of Martin according to their own conception of good care. It was just as well, however, that she had arrived to take him away. He'd probably come down with something contracted at the damn nursery, she reflected bitterly, as soon as she got him to New York. It did not seem that there was going to be trouble getting him away. Wallace had not been mentioned, but that could mean anything. She recalled with alarm that the baby's departure had not been mentioned either. Despite the many thoughts which ran through her brain, Irma drifted off to sleep a few minutes after she had climbed into the quaint old bed. The bed, she thought drowsily, must have been new when the house was.

She was awakened by Mildred leaning over her. "Irma, I'm going to wake the babies now. Do you want to come with me?"

Irma jumped up hastily and reached for the kimono and slippers.

"Irma, I want to tell you something before you see Martin. Daddy has been a constant visitor here and Martin's very fond of him."

"Yes?"

"Of course Martin didn't remember ever having seen daddy before."

"Of course not."

"Well, we didn't tell the child that my daddy was his daddy, too. We thought we'd leave it up to you to do what you want about it."

"Thank you, Mildred."

"Don't thank me. It was daddy's idea."

Waking Martin was fun. To see his eyes stare unbelievably up at her and then to hear his voice rise in a scream of joy was something Irma had dreamed about. He stood up on his bed and hugged her and babbed of his recent adventures and pulled her hair and screamed some more.

Irma dressed him, listening carefully all the while to his funny little report of how Mildred's baby had knocked the oatmeal off the high chair tray and how Mildred's daddy had gotten splashed with it. Irma, listening to his conversation, was reminded of the number of weeks which had passed since he had heard French. She must get him back to mademoiselle without loss of time. Perhaps this evening they would leave Thrace.

Mildred, at the other end of the room dressing her baby, called over her shoulder. "Well, Irma, is your son all in one piece and healthy?"

"Looks so," Irma replied.

"He's gained a pound since he's been here and he eats everything on his plate, don't you, Martin?"

"He always did," Irma replied.

"Mademoiselle said he didn't," Mildred protested. "But what I was going to say was this: If your son looks cared for you might trust him with me this afternoon in case there's anything you want to do in town."

"Of course I trust him with you," Irma said, hypocritically. "But I don't think I want to do anything."

"Well, all right."

"Although I ought to go down and buy the tickets for the train," Irma said.

"When were you thinking of leaving?"

"This evening."

"You're welcome here, you know, but use your own judgment about when you want to leave."

"You don't think—Mildred, you don't think that your daddy will mind?"

"O, yes, he'll mind, but he won't be annoyed. He's insulated against being hurt, Irma. You can only burn out a fuse once. I suppose that's a heck of a metaphor for an electrical expert's wife to use but you know what I mean."

Irma went to town that day. She went to see Bill, but she went mainly because Wallace was coming to Mildred's to say good-by to the baby. It hurt her to think of anyone's having to part with Martin. It had hurt to see Rose and later Miss March kiss him good-by.

PARTIES APPROVE COMMITTEE ROLLS

Northern and Border
Democrats Given 20 of 47 Chairmanships.

BY CECIL B. DICKSON.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—All the wheels in the house machinery were set into motion today with approval of committee rosters and completion of democratic organization.

Carrying out their policy of dividing the spoils of victory geographically, the democratic committee, an exclusive committee is one whose members are not allowed to have a chair in another legislative group.

Virtually all the 50-odd new democrats from north of the Mason-Dixon line were given substantial berths on the 12 exclusive committees. An exclusive committee is one whose members are not allowed to have a chair in another legislative group.

Both the democratic and republican committee slates were approved unanimously by the house today. This clears the way for the groups to get busy on the thousands of legislative proposals, including those of President Hoover.

The democrats took 12 of the 21 seats on all major committees except in a few where the membership varies numerically. They seized 21 of the 35 places on the Appropriations committee; 8 of the 12 on rules and 15 of 25 on ways and means.

New York's delegation of 23 received six committee chairmanships, and two seats in the ways and means committee which prepares the committee assignments. Texas' delegation of 18, besides having their dean, Garner, as speaker, received six committee chairmanships, all of importance.

The three most powerful chairmanships were split among southern states. Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, heads appropriations; P. O. North Carolina, rules, and Collier, of Mississippi, ways and means.

The New Yorkers to become chairmen are: Black, claims; Somers, coinage, weights and measures; Gavan, elections No. 2; Dickstein, immigration; Storch, patents; Mead, postoffice and post roads.

Texas to become chairmen: Jones, agriculture; Hayburn, interstate commerce; Mansfield, rivers and harbors; Summers, judiciary; Lanham, public buildings and grounds, and Williams, territories.

The small Massachusetts democratic delegation received two chairmanships, labor going to Connery and education to Douglass.

The other chairmanships which went to northern and border states follow:

Missouri: Loxier, census, and Cochran, expenditures in executive departments.

Ohio: Underwood, invalid pensions, and Harlan, revision of laws.

Nebraska: Howard, Indian affairs, and Morehead, memorials.

Illinois: Parsons, enrolled bills.

Maryland: Linticum, foreign affairs.

West Virginia: Smith, mines and mining.

New Jersey: Mrs. Mary T. Norton, District of Columbia.

Kentucky: Gilbert, library.

Montana: Evans, public lands.

In the south, Alabama was favored with Representative McDuffie as whip and Stagg, chairman of banking and currency; Jeffers, civil service; Almon, roads, and Allgood, war claims.

Mississippi, besides Chairman Collier, of ways and means, was given these chairmanships: Rankin, veterans; Quinn, military affairs, and Hall, irrigation and reclamation.

Besides Chairman Byrns, of appropriations, Tennessee succeeded in making Davis, of that state, head of merchant marine and fisheries.

Others southern chairmanships approved were:

Georgia: Vinson, naval affairs, and Rutherford, elections of president and vice president.

South Carolina: Hare, insular affairs; Gasque, pensions, and Stevenson, printing.

Florida: Green, disposition of useless papers.

North Carolina, besides P. O. on rules; Warren, accounts; Bayard, elections No. 1; Kerr, elections No. 2.

Louisiana: Wilson, flood control.

Nicholas Renounces Bride And Makes Peace With King

BUHAREST, Rumania, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Rebellious Prince Nicholas is understood to have renounced today his morganatic bride of a month, Mme. Jana Lucia Delet, and to have become reconciled with King Carol. In an interview lasting more than an hour, Nicholas was said to have told his brother he recognized his marriage to the attractive young divorcee was illegal and that he willingly repudiates her rather than lose his membership in the royal family.

Carol was overjoyed at the happy conclusion to the dispute that has rankled between them, and restored to his brother all the military and civil offices which were taken from him. Mme. Delet, it is believed, will be given a beautiful villa and grounds at Filipsca, which Nicholas recently purchased and transformed into a park, and Nicholas will return to reside at the palace.

When Nicholas arrived, the palace guards did not give him a military salute, but when he left they presented arms as in former days. He was in a happy mood and was accompanied by an aide whom Carol loaned him.

News of the reconciliation created a favorable impression in Bucharest society and court circles, which have been boiling with rumors over the royal dispute.

Only last night Mme. Delet was reported from Belgrade to have informed King Carol that she was willing to have the ceremony annulled because she would "never forgive herself" if Nicholas should suffer on her account.

DR. TUCKER ELECTED EXCHANGE CLUB HEAD

Dr. J. Ross Tucker was elected president of the Exchange Club Tuesday at the annual elections, held in the green room of the Henry Grady hotel. N. O. Eubank was chosen first vice president; Keith Rice, second vice president; W. A. Smith, treasurer; Judson M. Garner, secretary. All elections were by unanimous vote. The new officers will be installed on January 1.

Through a fund of $100, donated by the treasury and supplemented by individual contributions from members, the club will endeavor to provide necessities and toys for 10 needy families this year, with Mrs. Ted Morrison in charge of the fund.

'Ski Girl' Returns To Welcoming Arms Of 'Husband's' Wife

MINEOLA, N. Y., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Miss May Gledhill, Canada's "ski girl," returned to her two-year-old boy, "Sonny," tonight at the home of Mrs. Inez Conner, wife of the baby's father.

She reached the Conner home almost 12 hours after she left the Nassau County hospital quietly, and almost as mysteriously, as she had appeared there November 28, when she challenged physicians to "try and find out" the nature of her ailment.

Mrs. Conner refused to see visitors after Miss Gledhill's return, but earlier she had been cheerful as she busied herself laundering "Sonny's" clothes.

DAUGHTER SURRENDERS IN DEATH OF MOTHER

PRESTONBURG, Ky., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Belle Thompson, 60 years old and almost blind and deaf, was shot to death here today and Sheriff R. L. Sturgill stated the woman's daughter, Mrs. Bertha Burchett, 38, claimed she killed her mother in self-defense.

Mrs. Burchett came to town from her farm home and surrendered, showing knife cuts on her dress and scratches on her face. The sheriff said she told him that in a quarrel her mother slashed at her with a knife and she snatched a pistol from the mantle and fired.

ALABAMAN ENDS LIFE
AFTER SHOOTING WIFE

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Coroner G. M. Evans today returned a verdict of attempted murder and suicide after investigating the shooting of Mrs. C. J. Rogers and the death of her husband at their store in suburban Gate City last night.

The coroner said he was told Rogers shot his wife four times in the presence of their five children and then turned the gun on himself. Mrs. Rogers was in a serious condition at a hospital.

PANDIT'S HOME RAIDED IN 'NO RENT' CAMPAIGN

LONDON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—An Al-lahabad dispatch to the Daily Mail said police raided the home of Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, Indian leader, and other houses today to enforce the ordinance of the government to suppress a "no rent" campaign in the United Provinces.

Headquarters of the national congress also was searched and pamphlets found advocating the non-payment of rent, the dispatch said. No arrests were made.

Brothers Beat Officer,
Believing Him 'Masher'

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 15.—(AP) Two brothers, members of a socially prominent family, were arrested Monday night after they had disarmed and beaten a Lansdowne police lieutenant into unconsciousness. They said they had believed him a "masher."

The men, James H. and Maury Walton, beat Lieutenant Hugh Weston, a former state trooper, after two young girls had appealed to them for protection from a man they said was following them.

James Walton told police he went out and saw Weston seated in an automobile. He accosted Weston, Walton said, and the officer got out of his car and a struggle ensued. The officer drew his pistol and fired two shots. The brothers took the weapon, discharged the remaining bullets into the air and then both pommelled Weston severely.

2 KILLED, 7 INJURED IN 'LIMITED' WRECK

Bloodhounds Used in Attempt To Find Trail of Switch Tamperers.

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 15.—(AP) Bloodhounds were called today to pick up the scent of train wreckers who last night fouled the switch of the Texas & Pacific line at Hutchinson spur, 18 miles south of here, and sent the "Louisiana Limited" passenger train thundering across the spring switch, killing two persons and injuring seven.

The dead were J. W. Gorman, 53, of Alexandria, La., an engineer with 28 years of service with the road, and S. P. Sutton Jr., 21, son of an Arcadia, La., farmer, who had starred on the Arcadia High school football team and was "bumming" his way to Abbeville, La., to obtain work in the sugar cane fields.

Two coaches and one of the pullman cars followed the locomotive and baggage cars off the rails. Of nearly 50 passengers on the train, only seven were injured, and all will recover. Three of those injured were riding the "blinds" with the fourth of their number, Sutton, who was killed.

Ten Lashes Ordered For Alleged Wife Beater

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Ten lashes at the whipping post was the punishment prescribed today for Joseph C. Carlton, Takoma Park (Md.) carpenter, on a charge of wife beating.

Police Judge A. L. Wilson, of Takoma Park, also sentenced Carlton to ten days in jail.

Under Maryland law, the lashing will be administered by Richard H. Lansdale, the county sheriff. Lansdale said today he had not received official notification of the sentence and did not know when he would execute it.

M'ADOO HURT BY COAL HURLED INTO TRAIN

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Dec. 15.—(AP)—William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, was injured Saturday when struck by a lump of coal thrown through a train window by a 15-year-old Martinsburg boy.

The incident became known today when the youth was arrested and held for juvenile court.

McAdoo was a passenger on the train, westbound, as it passed through Martinsburg. The extent of his injuries were not disclosed. It was believed he was en route to his home in California.

The youth, publication of whose name is not permitted under West Virginia law, said the piece of coal was "bumming" his way to Abbeville, La., to obtain work in the sugar cane fields.

Two coaches and one of the pullman cars followed the locomotive and baggage cars off the rails. Of nearly 50 passengers on the train, only seven were injured, and all will recover. Three of those injured were riding the "blinds" with the fourth of their number, Sutton, who was killed.

Again Chevrolet strikes a popular new note in motor car styling

THE NEW SPECIAL SEDAN

Finer Fisher Bodies • Striking new lines • Distinctive new front-end appearance • Attractive new colors • Enriched interiors

Chevrolet and Fisher designed the new Chevrolet Six to be the finest-looking automobile the low-price field has ever seen. Just how well they have succeeded is a matter that Chevrolet leaves, with confidence, to your own good taste. And the enthusiastic response which has greeted this new car everywhere, proves it is everything its builders planned it to be.

The front end is unusually imposing in appearance. The radiator shell is deeper and more gracefully curved. A distinctive ensemble is formed by a new arched double tie-bar, a new built-in radiator grille, projectile-shaped headlamps and trumpet-type horn—all plated in gleaming chromium. From the side-view you find such features as stylish new hood-ports (chrome-plated on all sport and de luxe models) and a modern streamline treatment of the front body-pillars.

Inside the car—you are greeted with several especially valuable new refinements: A new "finger-touch" adjustable front seat; a new "inside-type" adjustable sun visor; and a deeper windshield which provides greater vision for both driver and passengers. Moreover, Fisher craftsmen have added many important new factors of strength, solidity, and quietness to Chevrolet's famous wood-and-steel body construction.

No one interested in automobiles should postpone seeing the new Chevrolet Six. You will find a type of Fisher coachwork that brings to mind leading custom-car creations. You will find performance that is absolutely new in Chevrolet's price field: The driving thrills of Syncro-Mesh combined with Free Wheeling! 65 to 70 miles-an-hour speed! 60 horsepower! Matchless economy! Remarkable smoothness and quietness! And finally, you will discover prices so low that any person able to buy any new car can own the Great American Value for 1932.

SHOUSE VOICES PLEA FOR PARTY HARMONY

Democratic Chairman Outlines Prospects for Campaign Year.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 15.—(AP)—The democratic party must "pick a road and stick to it" if full measure of success is to be realized in the coming presidential campaign, J. M. Shouse, chairman of the democratic national executive committee, told Alabama democrats here tonight.

Harmony is the first principle of success, political or otherwise, Mr. Shouse said, and it is up to the democrats to maintain the harmonious front shown so far in the organization of the house of representatives under a democratic leader.

Addressing the Alabama state democratic committee, which meets here tomorrow to discuss methods of selecting delegates to the next convention, Mr. Shouse outlined the national prospects of the party, discussed local and state affairs, and made it clear that he was not attempting to influence the Alabama delegation to the convention.

"I am neither for or against any individual candidate," he declared, "and as long as I have charge of the headquarters of the national committee the weight of that headquarters will not be used in the interest of any one of the several distinguished gentlemen who are being prominently spoken of in connection with the nomination."

Mr. Shouse touched briefly on the controversy over election of John H. Bankhead to succeed J. Thomas Heflin as United States senator from this state.

"Incidentally, let me interject a word here about the effort that is being made to vitiate the election of your junior senator," he said.

"It is not important in the sense that there is any possibility that it will succeed. But the circumstances of it are significant and illustrative of the desperation of some of our adversaries and the lengths to which they are willing to go even for a temporary advantage."

The attempt to magnify "minor errors" in the balloting and counting of votes "into an arraignment of the whole state as necessary to a gigantic fraud has no possibility of success," he declared.

Discussing the prohibition situation, Mr. Shouse said he did not profess to know the best answer. But it is in line with accepted democratic doctrine "to be willing to give to the people themselves the opportunity to pass upon some substitute plan to take the place of the eighteenth amendment and try to meet the regrettable condition which we face today."

"It is a question which in my judgment cannot be shunted aside. It is a political question, because if it is to be solved, it must come through political action."

WENDEL ESTATE "HEIR" ARRESTED AS FORGER

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—(UP)—Russell J. Wendel, said to be an adopted son of a brother of the late Ella Wendel, New York spinster, who left an estate of $160,000, was under arrest today charged with forgery.

Wendel, alias N. C. Nelson, is 61 years old and an ex-convict, according to police. Detectives said that Wendel and others had "flooded southern California" with forged checks of this kind. Refining Company, of Pittsburgh, one of Andrew Mellon's interests.

JANE ADDAMS SHOWS FURTHER IMPROVEMENT

BALTIMORE, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Jane Addams, pioneer social worker and founder of Hull House at Chicago, has improved so markedly since her operation Saturday at Johns Hopkins hospital here that her personal physician, Dr. James B. Herrick, returned to Chicago today and Dr. Alice Hamilton, a consultant, went back to Harvard.

'Caterpillar Club' Founder, Now Air Official, Visits Here

Who's Who of American society, aviation and dogdom are represented liberally in the above photograph, which shows (left to right) Mrs. Truxton Beale, nationally known Washington, D. C., society leader; "Salty," the first dog ever to fly as passenger across the 18,000-foot ridge of the Andes mountains, and Captain Harold Harris, first American aviator to leap from a disabled plane and thus become the original charter member of the Caterpillar club. Staff photo by Bill Mason.

The first man in America to crawl over the side of a disabled airplane, leap clear and pull the ripcord of a parachute with the hope that it might, after all, open and permit him to land safely, arrived in Atlanta late Tuesday afternoon, accompanied by a nationally known society leader and a perky Scotty cairn—the first dog ever to fly as a passenger over the Andes.

He is Captain Harold R. Harris, and he was a passenger on the Eastern Air Transport plane from Miami. With him as passengers were Mrs. Truxton Beale, of Washington, D. C., and "Salty," the cairn. Captain Harris is on a month's vacation out of Lima, Peru, where he has his headquarters as vice president and operations manager of the Pan-American-Grace Air Lines. Mrs. Beale is on her way to Washington, and Captain Harris will leave this morning for Los Angeles, his home.

In 1923 Captain Harris, as chief of the technical and test section of the United States army air corps, unintentionally founded the famous Caterpillar Club, composed of airmen who save their lives by means of a

CURTIS MARINE TROPHY WILL BE WORLD PRIZE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The Curtis marine trophy, heretofore the prize in navy and marine corps airplane races, will be offered in international high speed seaplane competition.

In making the decision public today the National Aeronautic Association said a minimum of $5,000 in prize money would accompany the trophy.

There was no cash prize offered with the Schneider trophy, which became the permanent possession of Great Britain last September.

The contest committee had in mind the possibility that the Curtiss trophy races might become the world's speed classic in place of the Schneider cup races.

A full committee, headed by Orville Wright, has approved broadening the prize competition after an special board composed of Dr. George W. Lewis, research director for the national advisory committee for aeronautics; Colonel C. D. Chandler, and Commander M. A. Mitscher, United States navy, drew the plans.

For the last several years the army and navy have not been officially represented at the Schneider cup races.

The special board presented plans to the contest committee for establishment of a seaplane water flying festival with the Curtiss race the main event.

California and Florida coasts have both been mentioned for the sites.

ANTI-TRUST STATUTES SCORED BY ATTERBURY

BOSTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, told members of the Commercial-Merchants' Club tonight that revision of the Clayton and Sherman acts was essential to national economy and establishment of stable balance between production and consumption.

Rum Ship May Bring Dying Man in to Coast

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(AP)—A dying man aboard the schooner Mahaska, reputed liquor carrier, tonight caused the coast guard patrol boat Boutwell to speed to its aid 200 miles at sea and won the Mahaska permission to come within the 12-mile limit.

The Mahaska radioed that the man might be saved if rushed to a hospital, and was granted permission to come ashore provided hatches were sealed and the ship put to sea immediately thereafter.

Meanwhile Commander F. O. Nichols, of the Champlain, at sea, was instructed to investigate and if conditions were sufficient, to bring him ashore by a faster coast guard patrol.

PEACE IS RETURNING TO LEAVENWORTH PEN

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Dec. 15.—(AP)—An occasional defiant whoop from a cell-uttered while the guards' backs were turned—was all that disturbed the quiet of Leavenworth federal penitentiary tonight.

Conditions were getting back to normal after a two-day mutinous demonstration by hardened convicts which followed last Friday's break for liberty by seven inmates, three of whom were killed and the others recaptured.

Prison industries remained suspended today. Officials said the regular routine probably would be resumed tomorrow, depending, however, upon the mood of the recalcitrants who have been kept in their cells.

U. S. TRANSACTIONS ARE HEAVY FOR DAY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—More than $2,600,000,000 passed through the United States treasury today.

The government sold $1,223,000,000 in securities, paid debts of $904,000,000, interest of $95,000,000 and collected a little more than $200,000,000 in income taxes.

The activities resulted from the second quarterly financing of the government in the 1932 fiscal year.

PENNY CLUB PAY BY DAY

BY MRS. THOS. K. GLENN

The Rogers Stores sent 11 from the boxes in their stores 2,677 pennies. It is certainly marvelous the support that the stores in Atlanta have given the Penny Club, particularly the grocery stores where the Atlanta housewives do their daily marketing. At this season of the year when the good things the market affords are so attractively displayed and are so tempting, I know it is a pleasure for the housekeeper to do their marketing. I appreciate the support that the Rogers stores are giving the Penny Club.

Mrs. A. R. Dowling heads the committee of ladies who collect from the Penny Club boxes in the department stores. This week the collections from these stores were 3,451. The ladies who collect from the 3,000 boxes of the Penny Club in all parts of the city are a most loyal group and work every day to bring the pennies to headquarters so that we may have them to pay the men on the pay roll of the unemployed work place. Pennies are giving work through the Penny Club and the made work plan—but we must have them every day if we are to maintain the pay roll regularly.

Mrs. B. G. Clay collects from the boxes in the banks and yesterday her collections totaled 2,981 pennies. This number of pennies will give work to 14 men for one day. I wish the people of Atlanta would stop and think just how many men are getting jobs through their pennies. A penny may seem small, but when it is banded together with hundreds of others it becomes a very powerful influence for good and does an untold amount of good for the unemployed men of Atlanta.

LIVING WAGE PROMISED BY BETHLEHEM STEEL

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(UPI)—The Bethlehem Steel Corporation will try to provide at least a living wage for every one of the 7,000 workers listed upon its normal pay roll in its plant at Lackawanna, N. Y., under a new system of unemployment relief, despite the fact that the plant is operating at only 30 per cent capacity.

This announcement was issued tonight by Jesse Isidor Straus, chairman of New York state's temporary relief administration, following a conference between relief officials and officials of the Bethlehem Corporation.

The announcement emphasized that this new relief system was being attempted by the Bethlehem Corporation because it had been found that the stagger system of work relief was not working successfully at Lackawanna.

Under the stagger system, which is advocated by many prominent persons, including President Hoover, the announcement declares: "A large number of men are now getting less than a living wage."

Straus said the Bethlehem Corporation had volunteered to give work relief to all employees on the normal Lackawanna pay roll who are receiving less than a living wage and also support any appropriations which must be made by the city of Lackawanna to care for other Lackawanna residents, not employed by the Bethlehem Corporation.

The first project to create new jobs at the Lackawanna plant will get under way this week when more than $100,000 will be spent on specially-created work.

Straus praised Bethlehem's president, Eugene Grace, and the corporation's management for their humane and progressive attitude.

GREEN HITS LOWERING OF PURCHASING POWER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Estimating that the purchasing power of wage earners has been reduced $10,000,000,000 since 1929, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said tonight prosperity would not return until the loss is restored.

In a radio address he said "there is enough work available to employ all workers who are able and willing to work if the number of hours worked per day were reduced to seven and the number of days worked per week were reduced to five in all the manufacturing and industrial plants throughout the nation."

CUT IN PEACH RATES IS ORDERED BY I. C. C.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today ordered a reduction in rates on peaches from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania to points in the north and east.

A complaint originally was filed by the Virginia State Horticultural Society, but later the public service commission of West Virginia, the state corporation commission of Virginia and the New York state department of agriculture intervened in favor of the petition.

RUM RING LEADER FORFEITS $40,000 BOND

LAKE CHARLES, La., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Dan Hogan, convicted as a rum ring leader, and under sentence in the Gueydan, La., conspiracy case, today forfeited a bond of $40,000 to the government when he failed to appear in federal court here for commitment to the penitentiary.

He was sentenced to three years in federal prison and assessed a heavy fine when he was tried here with nine companions in the spring of 1930.

33 CITIES CONTRIBUTE $94,500,000 FOR JOBLESS

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The Evening Post says today that a survey it made indicates that 33 cities have contributed approximately $94,500,000 for relief of the unemployed.

New York, with a total of more than $40,000,000, is far in the lead, with Chicago and Philadelphia vying for second place with $10,000,000 each.

FILM BEAUTY ORDERED TO PAY LAWYER $16,000

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Gunter Lessing, attorney who sued Dolores Del Rio, film beauty, for $31,000 as fees which he claimed were due for services, was awarded $16,000 today by Superior Court Judge Minor Moore.

A judgment of $20,000 was returned, but the court included $4,000 which the actress had paid, thus reducing the total to $16,000.

Spivey Given Ovation By Southern Students

LAKELAND, Fla., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Students at Southern College, Methodist Episcopal Church, South's school, gave M. Spivey, its president, an ovation yesterday, the result of his exonerated of heresy at the Florida conference last week, student leaders said.

In his chapel addresses Dr. Spivey made no references to the charges against him nor anything connected with the investigation of his allegedly heretical statements.

Company that it had picked up Paul in an airplane about 10 miles south of the Virginia coast. Their plane also Zimmerman and Ed Moodie, drifting of the Five Fathoms light vessel off was taken aboard.

Child Welfare Association Xmas Plans Discussed by Mrs. Neely

BY MRS. FRANK H. NEELY.
Sitting around the comfortable room, chatting over problems of their children, sat the 30 boarding mothers of the Child Welfare Association of Fulton and DeKalb counties. This organization is the former Georgia Children's Home Society, and is associated with the Hillside Cottages and the Carrie Steele Logan orphanage. The boarding mothers have been thoughtfully and carefully selected by Miss Mary Newell and her corps of fine young women to take care of children unfortunately deserted, abandoned or otherwise without proper parental guidance.

And one may well delight in the wisdom of these young women who so well selected such a group for the noble task of boarding mothers. Women so different, yet so alike, with such kindness shining in their eyes, such eagerness for knowledge of child training, such steadfastness and unselfishness, such sacrifice and generosity, such a restful of faith they create in the midst of a messy world. They mothered from one to five children, wards of the association. They discussed play, morals, food and Christmas. Each mother had provided Santa Claus but in addition the children of the Samuel Inman school wanted to help with other children's Christmas and so had chosen the association as its benevolent this year. But how were they doing it? With the desire of Miss Newell, stockings and goodies were to be sent to the child welfare meeting rooms on Forrest avenue and the mothers were to meet there and fill the stockings and smuggle them into the homes!

One of the mothers had a letter her eight-year-old had written in a nice hand, good spelling and on paper pictured at the top it read:

"Dear Santa Claus: How are you? I am just fine. I have the chicken pox. I am the happiest boy in the world. I want a wagon. I want a Jack-in-the-Box. I love you, don't you? Goodbye to you, John Smith, P. S. Do you love me?"

And my neighbor, talking to me about her five, spoke sadly about the plight of the parents that deprive them of the privilege of living with their own parents and said that she tried to be a good mother and the children loved her, so she said "I am not so sorry for them but think what the parents are missing!"

Winners Announced In Bridge Tourney

Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Somers and Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Morris won the prizes at the contract bridge tournament staged by the management of the Atlanta Athletic Club and directed by Alonzo J. Johnson, local expert, Monday evening at the club. Mr. and Mrs. Somers were the north and south winners, with Mrs. M. E. Oliver and Mrs. John Oliver as runners-up. Dr. and Mrs. Morris were adjudged the east and west winners, with Mrs. St. Elmo Massengale and Mrs. Charles McLean as runners-up. The prizes were complete sets of Culbertson standard bridge tournament folders, one being given to each winner.

The tournament was the culmination of a series of interesting bridge lectures given during the past week by Mr. Johnson for members of the Athletic Club and their friends.

Alliance Francaise To Meet Thursday

The Alliance Francaise meets at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, December 17, at the home of Mrs. J. O. Sanders, 175 Avery drive.

The French Colonial exhibition in Paris this year having quickened the interest of the world in the French colonial possessions, the alliance will devote occasional programs throughout the year to a study of its customs, literature and music. The subject for Thursday afternoon will be Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco. The speaker will be Mademoiselle Suzel Triere, of Paris, who is at present a student at Agnes Scott College.

Miss Helen Riley, director of Atlanta Music center, will give a group of the folk songs of these countries, collected and arranged by Salvatore Daniel, as follows: "La Gazelle," a Moorish song from Algeria; "Zohra," a love song from Morocco; "Soleima," Chanson Moresque of Tunisia. At the close of the program a Christmas story, "Noel Gothique," by Jean le Poivre Moyné, will be read by Paul Seydel.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight Give Bridge Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Joel J. Knight honored Miss Evelyn Barnett and Herman Charles Kennedy, whose marriage takes place December 20, with a bridge party last evening at their home on Virginia avenue. The guests included Mr. and Mrs. Bartow Ford Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lott, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Burdett, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Kincaid, Misses Virginia Skeen, Mary Brown, Sophia Horne, Laurie Linthicum, Ralph Campbell, Lewis Daniel, Tom Knight, Jack Wilkins and the honor guests.

Miss Kimbell Feted At Parties in Nelson.

Miss Elizabeth Kimbell, whose marriage to Lervey Caldwell Perry will be an event of Saturday afternoon taking place at Druid Hills Methodist church, was honored guest yesterday at the parties at which Miss Alexandria Anderson and Miss Laura Baker entertained in Nelson, Ga. where Miss Kimbell is the guest of Miss Anderson. Yesterday afternoon these young hostesses entertained at a bridge-ten and linen shower, inviting 60 young matrons and members of the younger contingent.

Last evening they entertained 16 members of the younger set at a buffet supper at the home of Miss Anderson. The decorations throughout the reception rooms featured the Christmas motif in the colors of red and green. Mrs. James Hamilton Therrell, former Miss Virginia Anderson, sister of the hostess, and Mrs. Croom Partridge, both of Atlanta, motored to Nelson for the parties. Miss Kimbell returns to Atlanta today and will be honored at several other pre-nuptial parties.

Mrs. Hull Entertains Alpha Gamma Delta.

Mrs. T. C. Hull entertained members of the Atlanta Alumnae Club of Alpha Gamma Delta Saturday afternoon at her home in Morningside. Clothes and toys were brought by the members to be given to the club's adopted child, both for her birthday, which was December 14, and for Christmas. The club plans to take the responsibility of an additional child the first of the year.

Further charity planning included a proposal by the members that the grand council of the fraternity be asked to approve an extension of its national charitable work, and locate some charity project in the south, with the Atlanta Club as immediate sponsors and organizing group. The new project might be an additional camp for undernourished children, similar to the one now located at Jackson, Mich., or some other worthy enterprise.

Applications were handed to interested members to be filled out for executive work in an advisory capacity with an undergraduate chapter. This will be a paid position, involving also an opportunity to do graduate work while in the college.

Members present were Misses Clara Bright, Sophia Horne, Doris Houston, Dorothy Moran, Mary George Pike, Emma Plaster, Margaret Blanchard, Billy Linthicum and Madeline Ira Hardin, Arthur Hedeman, Ralph Hill, Louis Howie and T. C. Hull.

The next meeting will be held Saturday, January 1, at the home of Mrs. Ira Hardin, 1630 Emory road, Dearborn 3548-W.

Kirkwood Pre-School Group To Meet.

The Pre-School Association of the Kirkwood school will hold public meeting in the school auditorium at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, December 17. Mrs. E. Burt Peters, of 2920 Emory street, N. E., and Mrs. Ralph G. Thompson, 2026 Hardee street, N. E., will have charge of a program of songs and recitations by a group of Kirkwood children.

Mrs. H. G. Parks, of 329 Sutherland drive, N. E., who took an active part in the organization of the pre-school associations in Georgia, will be the guest speaker. In her talk Mrs. Parks will deal principally with the value of pre-school knowledge in the home. Mothers of all pre-school children are particularly urged to attend this meeting to which the general public is also welcomed. Mrs. James A. Belflower, of 2069 Hardee, N. E., president, will preside.

Will Give Lecture.

Sonia Solomonoff, one of the few great authorities on the Russian ballet, will give a talk on the "Russian Theater and Ballet to the members of the Twentieth Century Center" Thursday, December 17, at the residence of Mrs. R. D. Kneale.

Miss Nellie Rucker Will Be Honored In Athens, Ga.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 15.—Miss Nellie Rucker, who arrives from the Hannah More school, in Maryland, Saturday, will be the happy inspiration of the lovely dance her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lamar C. Rucker, are planning to give Saturday evening, December 19, at the Overhurst Country Club, which will be one of the most delightful social events of the Yuletide holidays of pleasurable interest to the young college contingent.

Miss Rucker will be cordially welcomed home for the Christmas gaieties after an absence of several months. She is the attractive niece of Mrs. John F. MacDougald, of Atlanta, whom she frequently visits at her West Pace's Ferry residence.

Mrs. Harris Celebrates Turkey Dinner

Mrs. H. L. Harris, of 1001 Crescent avenue, issued invitations to 41 lineal descendants to join in the celebration of her eighty-fifth birthday last Sunday. There are 10 children, 17 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren of Mrs. Harris.

The massive cake bearing 85 candles formed the attractive centerpiece of the banquet table, around which were seated four generations. Poinsettias, roses and ferns carried out the holiday colors in green and red. Mrs. Jere A. Wells, oldest granddaughter, blew out the candles and expressed appropriate felicitations for Mrs. Harris upon the observation of her natal day.

College Park Music Club Closes 1931 With Fine Program

The activities of the College Park Music Club for 1931 were brought to a close with the December meeting at the home of Mayor and Mrs. E. D. Barrett, and Mrs. Clarence Wall, president, presided during a brief business session which was followed by a musical tea. Mrs. Hugh Couch, program chairman presented Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wall, Mrs. W. W. Bateman and Miss Avis Patterson in a program. Mrs. Wall sang a group of three songs, "Sacrament" by McDermid; "Iris" by Wolfe, and "In Autumn" by Curran, and "Sundown" by Woodman was an attractive encore. Mrs. Bateman opened her group with "Pastorale" from an old Italian opera, "Rosalinde," by Veracini. The lyric quality of her voice and her excellent phrasing was most effective in this selection. By special request she gave two of her own compositions, "Rest" with the poem by Father Ryan, famous Civil War poet-priest of Mobile, Ala., and "A Message," set to words by Will Allen Dronigole, of Nashville, Tenn. Entirely different in style the two songs showed the splendid talent of this brilliant young composer.

As an encore she sang "Rain," by Curran. An interlude was furnished by the reading of a paper on "The Origin of the Christmas Carol" by Mrs. Couch. A duet, symbolic of the approaching Yuletide season, "Gesu Bambino," by Pietro, was beautifully rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Wall. Miss Avis Patterson served as accompanist for Mrs. Bateman and for the duet sung by Mr. and Mrs. Wall. Mrs. Wall, one of the most talented members of the club, played the accompaniments for her husband. The home was exquisitely decorated in blossoms from the gardens of the hostess. Colorful verbenas and flowering quince were used in the music room and dining room. The tea table was laid with an imported lace cloth and silver services were placed at either end. Mrs. Frederic LeBeau and Mrs. Eva L. Thornton presided at the tea table and Mesdames Barrett, Stakely Northcutt, Grady Sullivan, Hendree H. Neal and Miss Mary Busch assisted in serving.

Souther-Burdett Wedding Rites Solemnized at Vineville Church

MACON, Ga., Dec. 15.—The marriage of Miss Clarence Souther, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clark Souther, of Gray, and Leuco Burdett was solemnized at noon today at the Vineville Baptist church, with the pastor, Dr. James Ellis Sammons, performing the ceremony in the presence of an assemblage of friends and relatives.

Miss Blodina Jung, organist, played Schubert's serenade, "Largo," by Handel, and "Nocturns," by Gulliet. Mr. Lewis Herndon, of Atlanta, a niece of the bridegroom, sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly." The groomsmen included Edward Robertson, Raymond Flournoy and Alfred Drake, of Atlanta, and Harry Fargason, of Macon. The matron of honor was Mrs. Benjamin R. Ship, sister of the bride. She wore a lovely gown of black and green faille crepe, embroidered in gold braid. The natural waistline was marked by a wide green crepe girle and the skirt was flared to ankle length. Her hat was of black straw, turban style, and she carried an arm bouquet of Columbia roses.

Lovely Bride.

The bride entered with her brother, Carroll O. Souther, who gave her in marriage. They were met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, Lawrence Burdett, of Atlanta. The bride, a lovely blond, wore a gown of brown chiffon velvet, the blouse of which was fashioned of angel skin satin, with a skirt flaring to ankle length. She wore brown suede and kid slippers and a brown Montpelier straw turban hat. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of sunset roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Mrs. William Andrew Taylor, sister of the bride, was becomingly gowned in black crepe embroidered in black braid. Her flowers were white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Burdett, mother of the bridegroom, wore black tulle trimmed in Alencon lace. Her bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley.

Wedding Trip.

The bride and bridegroom left on an extended motor trip to Florida, after which they will make their home in Macon. For traveling the bride wore a chic suit of black wool crepe with a blouse of white satin. Her slippers, bag and hat were of black.

Mr. Burdett is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Burdett, of Atlanta. For the past two years he has made Macon his home and is manager of the Macon International Company.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Burdett, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Herndon, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Hardman, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Mathis, Mrs. B. H. Hardman, Mrs. Harvey Allen, Mr. and Mrs. John Armour, Edward Robertson, Raymond Flournoy, Mr. and Mrs. Macon.

Evening of Music.

Invitations have been extended to an evening of music to be given by a group of students of Miss Ruth Dabney Smith, Saturday, December 19, at the Studio 14, The Prado, at 8:15 o'clock.

A program of violin, piano and ensemble numbers chosen from the compositions of Bach, Mozart, Beethoven, Mendelssohn, Schumann, Chopin, Debussy and others has been arranged.

The students who will play include Hazel Taylor, Elizabeth Drake, Corbel Este, Madeline Clark Curtis, Margaret George, Sibylla Pringle, Pauline Morrow, of Zitacuaro, Mexico; Milton Calhoun, Eugene George, Carroll George, Allen Jackson and William Drake.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

A mother writes a letter warning about the disobedience of her 15-year-old daughter. She hastens to add that she is affectionate at all times, repents, on occasions, after the disobedience, and always full of promises and resolves, that she will never repeat the offense. Readers, you know the rest—it's all repetitions. Of course, this mother and all of her ilk have lost, long ago, all power of control of the conduct of their adolescents. They lost it when the children were quite small. Fortunately, it doesn't mean that those children are necessarily bound for destruction. There are many things that may save them. When a mother has borne her child to her with the bonds of a genuine affection, she should have the part of that child does not indicate that the mother has failed altogether. It does mean that the discipline has fallen short of the mark and it means that the parent has not dealt wisely with her child.

Recently there was an amusing article in a magazine written by a woman who was advocating that women should make some effort to acquaint themselves with the teachings of modern psychology concerning child training. She quoted one woman who made all manner of fun of the new idea and then gave her own prescription for the training of her brood in these words: "I give mine plenty of fresh air and good food, spank them when they need it, love them a lot, and have no trouble with them." Having given her formula she then proceeded to pay her respects to the mothers who wanted their time going to hear "old maids" tell them how to bring up their babies. But, adds the writer: "Her prescription didn't work well, for soon the daughter in that house began to make scenes, be impertinent, and refuse to eat." The subject about which the majority of them have no scientific knowledge. The very women who ignore the importance of the teachings of psychology as touching their problems will spend hours and dollars too in the pursuit of other subjects more to their liking and of far less practical importance. They will take their child to the best doctors for medical attention and advice when they have physical upsets and accept the advice readily but the psychological problems just don't exist as far as the mothers are concerned.

There is no valid excuse for such ignorance or for the refusal to face the facts. The papers and magazines are filled with columns and articles, written by experts, on all phases of child training and on the importance of undertaking it in scientific fashion, with reference to the particular child's disposition and environment. Any woman who can read these columns and articles and still not consult with a parent study group and in the cities there are child clinics where the individual problem can be dealt with, the trouble diagnosed, the treatment recommended and periodic supervision of the case provided. I have referred on several occasions to an article in the best doctors for medical attention and advice when they have physical upsets and accept the advice readily but the psychological problems just don't exist as far as the mothers are concerned.

On the Air Today

Emphasizing the intense vigor and barbaric excitement of Slavic music, Howard Barlow will conduct the Columbia Symphony orchestra in a concert devoted mainly to the works of famous Russian composers as one of the outstanding events to be broadcast Tuesday night from 9:30 to 10 o'clock. The concert will open with the prelude to Borodin's opera, "Prince Igor."

Eighteen true bills were returned Tuesday by the Fulton county grand jury, including six for auto theft.

Autumn Jimmie, at r of Ziegfeld's "Show Boat" and of vaudeville, will offer a varied program of songs, dances and musical comedy from 1 to 1:15 p. m. She will sing "On Revival Day," "Who Am I?" and "Linda." Fred Berens' orchestra will play "You're My Everything" in addition to accompanying Autumn Jimmie.

Cyrus E. Dallin, one of America's foremost sculptors, who is especially noted for his portrayal of the American Indian, will conduct the second art appreciation program of the American School of Art, which will be heard from 1:30 to 2 p. m.

How radio and a newspaper worked hand in hand to free an innocent man from the stigma of murder will be told by Richard J. Finnegan, managing editor of the Chicago Daily Times, during "Bill Schull's Going to Town" Tuesday night from 5:15 to 6 p. m. Finnegan will speak from Columbia's Chicago studios.

In a report of activities of the council, Frederick A. Colt, secretary, said 90 per cent of the cases thus far heard had resulted in definite allowance or rejection of the claims submitted, and that in no case did the award constitute a compromise.

Proverb Contest Staff Busy Checking Sets Submitted

A bee-hive could hardly be a busier place than The Constitution's department devoted to the grading of the many sets submitted by the enthusiastic followers of the $2,300 proverb contest. The photograph shows a few of the staff of expert checkers who are working in day and night shifts to determine the winners of the 30 cash prizes. Accuracy rather than speed is this department's watchword. Each set submitted will be carefully examined. The work of checking and judging the sets is expected to take another three weeks, although it is possible that less time will be required. While the checkers are at their tasks, the correct answers and facsimiles of the pictures are being published serially in the classified advertising section.

Woman's Board Plans Xmas Eve Party at Eggleston Memorial Hospital

December meeting of the woman's board of Eggleston Memorial hospital was held Monday at the nurses' home at the hospital, on Forrest road. Mrs. Frank Holland, president of the board, presided, and plans were completed for the annual Christmas party to be given Christmas eve, by members of the ways and means committee honoring the nurses at the hospital. Mrs. Jesse Draper is chairman of the committee and will act as official hostess.

Mrs. Hines Roberts, chairman of the Christmas seal committee, made an interesting report on the work of the committee. Mrs. Erwin was selected to fill the vacancy made by Mrs. Albert E. Thorne, who has recently resigned. Mrs. Robert Peggam is the new membership chairman, succeeding Mrs. S. M. Page Reese. Mrs. Paul Hulifish was appointed chairman of the nominating committee, to present names for officers to be elected at the January meeting. Serving with Mrs. Hulifish will be Mrs. H. J. Johnson and Mrs. Alice Green. Mrs. James Stanley Moore, of the Vacant Circle, presented the hospital with a check from her circle as a Christmas gift. A living decorated Christmas tree will be placed in the front yard of the hospital during the holidays, and members of the Junior League will give their annual Christmas tree for the children on Christmas Day. It was announced by Mrs. Holland, Miss Jesse M. Candlish, superintendent of the hospital, announced many gifts given the hospital during the past month. Among those donating Thanksgivings were Mrs. William L. Warner, Mrs. Charles Howard Candler, Alex King, J. Lovett Johnson, Hines Roberts and Houston school, North Avenue Presbyterian school, Forrest Avenue school, Samuel M. Inman kindergarten, and Junior Red Cross, and others.

Mrs. Philip L. Engle was a new member welcomed by the board. Among the board members present were Mesdames Frank Holland, Thomas Erwin, Richard Johnston, J. J. Goodrum, Jesse Draper, Hines Roberts, William Prescott, Robert B. Peggam, Henry Troutman, Paul Hulifish, William Fish, James Stanley Moore, Ross Henderson, M. M. Roberts, Wingfield Jones and Misses Yolande Gwin and Alice Green.

AN OLD ACQUAINTANCE.
BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Odd meetings will at times befall that make the world seem very small. —Old Mother Nature.

Were you ever terribly frightened, so frightened that you felt utterly helpless and hopeless? If so, you know just how Runty, the little Possum, felt as Farmer Brown's Boy carried him by the tail up to the house. It was his first meeting with mankind. He hadn't dreamed that there were such giants in all the Great World. He felt very, very small and very, very helpless. He was very much afraid. Only once before had he known such fear and that was when he had been caught by Black Pussy the Cat. In a way even Black Pussy had not been quite so terrible, for she wasn't a giant and she didn't walk on two legs and wasn't so wholly different from other people of the Green Forest.

Runty was placed in a cage with some food and water and a box in which was a straw bed. As long as Farmer Brown's Boy remained watching Runty continued to play dead. He opened one eye just enough to watch Farmer Brown's Boy, but then was all. But no sooner was Farmer Brown's Boy out of sight than Runty was on his feet.

"A mouse has come," he thought. "Ah! will get out of sight before that giant comes back."

Poor Runty. It didn't take him long to find out that he was a prisoner. There was no way out of that cage. Over and over the whole inside he went, but nowhere was there an opening he could squeeze through. Can you guess how he felt? Just as soon as he was sure that he couldn't get out he went to the box and burrowed under the soft bedding. He could at least get out of sight and that helped some. Had he been a little boy instead of a little Possum I suspect that he would have cried himself to sleep. But that is not the way of the little people of the Green Forest. They very early learn to make the best of a bad matter and watch for opportunity to get out of trouble.

"Ah! done make a mistake. Yes, sub. Ah done make a mistake when Ah took a nap after eating that aigz," thought Runty. "But Ah never will make that mistake again. No, sub. Ah never will be so shy am in a trouble now, but it might be worse. Ah have a good bed and plenty to eat and that giant didn't hurt me. Ah wonder why."

Then Runty forgot his troubles. Yes, sir, he did so; he went to sleep. When he awoke he was hungry. At first he didn't remember where he was. Then it all came back to him. No one was about. He crept out. There was the food Farmer Brown's Boy had put in the cage for him. He nibbled. Then he settled down to make a good meal. He was just finishing it when he had a queer feeling that someone was near. He looked up to discover a pair of yellow eyes glaring at him through the wires. One glance was enough. There was that black person who had caught him over in the Green Forest and had chased him out on the end of the branch of a tree. What was she doing here?

Well, he had fooled her once, perhaps he could fool her again. Runty dropped over dead. Of course, he wasn't really dead, just pretending. And there he lay when Farmer Brown's Boy came and drove Black Pussy away. He was in just about the same position as when Farmer Brown's Boy had left him. For a moment the latter thought that he must have been lying there all that time and that perhaps he was dead after all. Then he noticed that the food was gone.

"You clever little rascal!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy.

Culbertson on Contract

Forcing a Lead.

BY ELY CULBERTSON,
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

"If I could only have forced my opponent to have made a spade lead, I could have won the contract," is a frequent lament at the bridge table. This plaint would not be as frequent if the Declarer was more accurate in his card reading and more careful in his play. Desired leads can be frequently forced. One of the best systems of forcing a lead is of eliminating all other suits from the hand of the chosen opponent before giving him an opportunity to lead. By use of the elimination play, many a Contract game can be won that would be lost by any other system of play.

Today's hand, which was played by Mr. Earl M. Hoffman, of Cleveland, discloses elimination as the only method of making gains on the hand. It was played in Duplicate and other players failed to find the correct solution.

Tech Officials Forecast Fight for Dixie "Big Ten;" Chicago Interests Offer Schmeling $200,000 To Fight Walker

TECH OFFICIALS FORECAST FIGHT FOR NEW BOARD

Armstrong and Alexander Leave for Meeting. Victory Is Seen.

With the warmest battle ever seen within the ranks of the Southern conference and a possible rift in that organization in the prospect, Georgia Tech's two representatives, Dr. A. H. Armstrong and Coach W. A. Alexander, will board the Crescent Limited tonight for the New Orleans meeting.

Both men are indefinite as to their belief of what will actually take place, but foresee the most animated meeting in conference history.

The two Tech athletic heads who are heartily in sympathy with the "Big Ten" movement, are getting away early as there is a meeting of their group set for tomorrow and they wish to discuss the first move carefully.

North Carolina's withdrawal from the proposed group will cause some complications, but the main idea is expected to be put across, namely, the establishment of a uniform scholastic standard among the main contestants.

Vanderbilt is in close accord with Tech and Florida in the movement. Others originally aligned with the "Big Ten" are Georgia, Auburn, Kentucky and Tulane.

Dr. L. C. Glenn, Vandy, stated recently that the purpose of the new body was not to disrupt the conference, but to bring about certain reforms that were needed. Coach Dan McGugin previously had declared that his team could not go on competing with those of institutions who did not uphold such rigid scholastic requirements as Vandy.

The "Big Ten" group probably will be met by a counter move from numerous other schools. There are reports that not only two or three new groups may be created by dissatisfied institutions who wish to compete on their own standard of by-laws.

There is such a movement on the north end of the conference. While in New Orleans, Coach Alexander will leave his football team in charge of Assistant Coaches Bobby Dodd and Jack Cannon while preparing for the game with California here December 26.

"I would like very much to stay here and see Wallace Wade, but we want to be on the grounds early at New Orleans," declared the veteran Tech mentor.

SCHWARTZ JOINS EASTERN STARS

Hickman, McEver To Play in Charity Game Against West.

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Marchmont Schwartz, Notre Dame's All-American halfback, has agreed to play with the All-Star eastern team against the west in the Shrine hospital benefit football game at San Francisco New Year's Day.

Schwartz' acceptance completed the team, which has 22 stars from the east and middle west on its roster.

The team will assemble at Northwestern University Saturday, receive instructions and plays from Coaches Dick Hanley, of Northwestern, and Andy Kerr, of Colgate, and depart for the west the same night.

Fifteen universities are represented on the team, which Coach Hanley believes is one of the strongest assembled for the charity-clinic cause.

The complete roster:
Ends—Orsi, Colgate; Hewitt, Michigan; Teeter, Minnesota; Elliott, Syracuse.

Tackles—Marvill and Engbreiten, Northwestern; McMurdo, Pittsburgh; Schiele, Colgate.

Guards—Hoffman, Notre Dame; Hickman, Tennessee; Haurbich, Ohio State; Chalmers, New York University.

Centers—Miller, Purdue; Marsland, Colgate.

Quarterbacks—Morton, Dartmouth; Melver, Tennessee.

Halfbacks—Schwartz, Notre Dame; Purvis, Purdue; Rebholz, Wisconsin; Murphy, Fordham.

Fullbacks—Russell, Northwestern, and Hinkle, Bucknell.

Football Midgets To Play Saturday

Another of the midget football games will be played at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at Grant field, when the Ansley Park Pirates and the Morningside Torpedoes meet.

Both teams are made up of youngsters under 15 years of age and whose weights will not exceed 115 pounds.

Everett Strupper, former Tech star halfback, is coach of the Pirates and Pup Phillips, former All-Southern Tech center, coaches the Torpedoes.

Ring Fans Pay $3,832 Into Atlanta's Coffers

Patrons of the gentle arts of grappling and punching paid $3,832.99 into Atlanta's depleted treasury out of the $76,659.80 promoters collected for their exhibitions for the 11 months just passed, according to figures on file in the office of B. Graham West, city comptroller.

The total paid into the city shows that the presentations for this year are virtually up to the standard of last year, when $4,090.23 was collected, and further convinces the public that the depression has failed to repress the primal instincts of the populace to see a good fight.

Most of the money paid out by patrons was for wrestling bouts and attests the increasing popularity of that sport here. Boxing promoters for the most part were inactive and staged only three cards where the gates exceeded $3,000.

N. Y. U. May Consider Harry Mehre As Meehan's Successor.

ABOARD GEORGIA FOOTBALL SPECIAL, Dec. 15.—When New York University's greater minds get down to the business of selecting a football coach to replace Chick Meehan Harry Mehre's name is pretty sure to be on the list.

And all this train riding has not made me daffy. Not quite. They like Harry Mehre up there. And who doesn't? What other coach has been able to step out and in five years become one of the best-known coaches in the game? And how many of the boys have had better teams than Harry Mehre?

Oh, sure, he was kicked around plenty on the coast. But everyone gets kicked around plenty once in a while.

And these games that come along in December or January usually go one way or the other very emphatically indeed.

And how many others have been able to go along and establish a finer reputation as a sportsman, a real personality and swell fellow generally? Well, not many, if any.

It was just last fall that your correspondent tuned in an ear on some remarks by the New York University athletic officials.

They were giving Harry Mehre a great verbal back-slapping for all those qualities enumerated. His team had just licked Yale three times running and come down to make it two out of three over the N. Y. U. Violets.

And so, if they have the slightest suspicion that he would be available, the N. Y. U. folks are pretty sure to send out some feelers.

Harry Mehre, of course, hasn't thought anything about it. He is planning on going right ahead at Georgia. Fact is he is already wondering when the examinations will be over in January and spring practice can be started.

But I do know that they think a lot of Harry Mehre in New York.

THE NEED OF SPRING PRACTICE.
Harry Mehre subscribes to the idea that spring practice is advisable in football. That is he thinks it is advisable for football men who do not intend playing baseball or some other sport.

Football is admittedly a game involving hard physical contact. Men playing it must be in good condition.

College officials who are seeking to rid the game of some of its so-called over-emphasis by restricting spring practice and limiting the fall work, are doing the boys a great deal of harm and endangering them physically. Unless the athlete plays baseball or works with the track team during the spring he should have some football to keep him in shape. Reporting for work in the fall with no physical exercise since the last football season is a mistake.

TULANE'S PASSES GREAT ASSET.
Lefty Haynes, the pass-catching fool on the Tulane football team which plays Southern California in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena on January 1, 1932, is the one best bet Tulane has to make a game of it. And perhaps win.

The Southern California team is pretty sure to concentrate their attack on Jerry Dalrymple as they did on Catfish Smith. This means that the heavy reverse plays, with Erny Pinckert blocking ahead of the play, will be launched at Dalrymple.

And anyone can pass against the Trojans. A good passing game such as Tulane and Georgia have can give them trouble offensively. Had Georgia's line been able to hold at all the Bulldogs' attack would have been downright dangerous.

Haynes may be left alone. And if he is he will catch more passes than Southern California thinks is in the world.

MEHRE RECOVERS.
Harry Mehre, Georgia head coach, recovered today from what appeared on Monday to be influenza.

"I had to get well," said Mehre. "First the trainer gave me something."

"Then Mayor Lon Dudley gave me two glasses of hot soda water. Then one of the newspapermen insisted on me taking four aspirin tablets, and then my wife gave me something else. I had to get well."

Harry Mehre spent the day looking out the window for Chet Wynne's home town somewhere in Kansas. "There must have been a car parked in front of Oronoque," said Harry. "Or maybe both houses burned down."

MIAMI BOXING TERM MEETS 3 OPPONENTS
MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 15.—(AP)—The University of Miami boxing and wrestling teams will meet three opponents on a nine-day road trip early in February, Coach Ernie Brett announced today.

The Hurricanes will open their tour against the Fort Benning (Ga.) army team February 5, taking on the Paris Island (S. C.) marine teams February 9, and the Catholic University representatives at Washington February 13.

MORRISON IS LOW IN PINEHURST PLAY
PINEHURST, N. C., Dec. 15.—(UP)—Robert G. Morrison, Pittsburgh, defending champion, won the qualifying medal today in the members' tournament at the Pinehurst Country Club. He shot a 37-36-73 to better the 38-37-75 turned in by George T. Dunlap Jr., New York.

Pairing for match play, beginning tomorrow: Morrison vs. W. D. Hyatt, Toledo; Dunlap vs. C. B. S. Marr, Carnoustie, Scotland; Blue vs. R. T. White, Bayonne, N. J.; E. D. Thompson, Springfield, Mass., vs. F. T. Keating, New York.

CUYLER AND PARTY BAG EIGHT BUCKS
CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—(AP)—National league catchers, who have been trying to catch Kiki Cuyler stealing bases all these years, can feel sorry for even the deer.

For the fleet-footed Cub outfielder and base pilder writes that he and his party have bagged eight bucks this winter during eight expeditions in the Michigan woods.

Kiki also advised friends here that the knee he sprained toward the close of last season was strong and ready for duty again.

WESTON CLUB BEATS DAWSON A. C., 27-17
DAWSON, Ga., Dec. 15.—Dawson Athletic Club in its second game of the season lost to the Weston Athletic Club by a score of 27 to 17 last night.

The visitors took the lead early in the game and were successful in chalking 16 of their points in the first half. The score stood 16 to 6 in favor of Weston at the half.

LETO WINNER.
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 15.—(AP)—Tony Leto, 132, veteran Tampa junior lightweight, hammered Bruce Britt, Terre Haute boxer, unmercifully for 6 1-2 rounds before knocking the Indiana mauler out in the seventh session after flooring him four times for nine points. Britt weighed 133.

DRUID HILLS GRIDMEN HOLD ANNUAL DINNER
Members of the Druid Hills football team, together with Coach Herbert Phillips and Professor J. N. Haddock, held their annual dinner last night.

Letters were awarded the players in appreciation of their fine work throughout a successful season. Speeches were made by all who attended. Charles Paine was named to captain the team in 1932.

FRANK TAKES STAND IN WISCONSIN PROBE
MADISON, Wis., Dec. 15.—(AP)—President Glenn Frank, of the University of Wisconsin, today was requested to B. Wood Jr., of the legislative investigation of the university athletic department.

The legislative committee, composed of two senators and three assemblymen, held an organization meeting and announced taking of testimony from President Frank would begin in a secret session tomorrow.

When asked whether the committee would inquire into the resignation of George Little, director of athletics, Assemblyman Frederick Kres, committee secretary, pointed out that the resolution calling for an investigation was concerned primarily with athletic department's finances.

GEORGIA DEAN FAVORS COAST FOR 1932 MEET

Dr. Sanford To Enter Proposal at Southern Conference Meet.

By Ralph McGill.

ABOARD GEORGIA FOOTBALL SPECIAL, Dec. 15.—When the Southern conference meets this week in New Orleans it will be asked to consider Los Angeles and the Olympic games as the site of their annual fall meeting in 1932.

The National Intercollegiate Association will meet at the same time and most of the conference delegates will attend. It would be a comparatively simple matter for the conference to present a quorum.

"I intend presenting the matter to the conference on Thursday or Friday," said Dr. S. V. Sanford, organizer of the present conference and for 10 years its president, retiring from that office just a year ago.

"It will be about the only opportunity most of us southern athletic officials have of witnessing the Olympic games. We could be present at the national meeting, which most of us attend, and then hold our own meeting. I hope that America catches the significance of the Olympic games. When we consider that they are the mightiest athletic games of all time and that they come down to us with a great traditional heritage from athletes of another age, I think they assume magnificent proportions."

INSPIRING SIGHT.
"The Olympic stadium at Los Angeles was an inspiring sight. The great gates at the end where the distance runner will enter and through which will come the victor in the marathon, the classic event of the meet, were truly inspiring."

"I hope that we can attend and hold our conference meeting there. I think all athletic bodies owe something to their country which is sponsoring this great international meeting."

Dr. Sanford's health has not been of the best but today he was confident that he would be able to attend the New Orleans meeting.

That meeting, which will be a significant one and which may see the formation of two new southern athletic organizations, will be held at the Georgia Institute of Technology, the conference as a whole for stricter eligibility rules governing athletics. It is his idea along with those of the representatives from several other institutions, that the cure for many of the athletic ills, lies in uniform eligibility rules, and that the cure will be a classroom work while in college.

FOYERS HEAD.
Dr. Sanford is also in favor of a commissioner to govern the conference each year. He differs with some, however, as to the selection of the commissioner.

Similar regulations have already been proposed by the smaller organization composed of eight members with a prospective membership of ten.

The proposed "Big Ten" will meet at the University of California at Berkeley, California, on some hour not occupied by the official program. There is a chance that at least two of the members will pull out. Those now in are Georgia, Georgia Tech, Florida, Vanderbilt, North Carolina, Kentucky, Tulane and Auburn.

If members do not pull out others will join.

Whenever the conference as a whole adopts uniform eligibility and entrance regulations, the smaller group may not be formed permanently.

Georgia, Vanderbilt, North Carolina, Kentucky, Tulane and Auburn, a commissioner to govern the conference each year, but Georgia's idea as to his selection are not in accord with some of the others.

SANFORD'S PLAN.
Some would appoint a man and pay him a salary. Dr. Sanford favors the appointment each year of one of the faculty at the institution which would serve for one year and be replaced the next by another one of the members. Or, if members desired, the selection of the same man for another year.

Meanwhile, the football special, on the retreat from Moscow, rolls on through Kansas, where it is written one peers out at plains that are dotted here and there with cattle and horses and sheep. The small rivers and hawks are frozen.

Zero weather has been left behind in New Mexico and Arizona, where there was more than two feet of snow.

The train will reach Memphis Wednesday afternoon, crossing the Mississippi there. Atlanta will be reached some Thursday morning, probably about 2 or 3:30.

The health of the travelers remains good. Harry Mehre was dangerously ill Monday and Tuesday night but is considerably better today. Dr. Sanford is also improving.

As home nears the boys' spirits rise. They are already looking forward to spring football which will be held in February. They want to get even for some things that happened this year.

WOOD'S FUTURE HOTLY DEBATED
NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The future of 20-year-old Sidney B. Wood Jr. after an international tennis player became the subject of widespread debate today, with indications the fair-haired youngster would rally considerable support as a result of his difference with Sam Hardy, Davis cup captain.

Vincent Richards was among the first to come to Wood's defense, although he declined to be drawn into the controversy over Davis cup tactics, that apparently is in the making.

"I certainly have not changed my opinion that Wood is America's most promising player," Richards told the Associated Press. "I believe he should be kept on the Davis cup team."

Richards' view of Wood's ability is shared by Big Bill Tilden, who wrote some time ago he regarded the youngster as the most promising of the new crop of players.

A month ago Hardy relegated Wood to the list of those who have not yet arrived, and may never do so. Answering Hardy, Wood said, "I don't know if that is so or not, but I know I am a good player."

There is considerable to be said for both sides. Hardy can point to Sidney's poor showing in the Davis cup play of last season. The United States lost four matches in the North American zone and interzone play, with Sidney losing three of them, two in the all-important interzone final with England, where the United States was defeated three matches to two.

On his side of the argument Wood can point to his record in 1930, when he played brilliantly in the eastern court figures to win both the Seabright and Southampton invitation singles and go to the semi-finals in the sectionals, and his Wimbledon championship of this year.

Wood was 20 November 1. At that age he has a better record than Tilden, "Little Bill" Johnston, Richards or any of the other greats of former years.

Davis cup officials have declined to take any part in the exchange between Wood and Hardy. Hardy has declined to continue the argument.

WOOD'S FUTURE HOTLY DEBATED

Many Come to Defense of Young Star in Controversy.

NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The future of 20-year-old Sidney B. Wood Jr. after an international tennis player became the subject of widespread debate today, with indications the fair-haired youngster would rally considerable support as a result of his difference with Sam Hardy, Davis cup captain.

TILDEN PREFERS TO REMAIN NEUTRAL.
JACKSON, Mich., Dec. 15.—(AP)—William T. MADISON, Wis., Dec. 15.—(AP)—President Glenn Frank, of the University of Wisconsin, today was requested to B. Wood Jr., of the legislative investigation of the university athletic department.

The legislative committee, composed of two senators and three assemblymen, held an organization meeting and announced taking of testimony from President Frank would begin in a secret session tomorrow.

When asked whether the committee would inquire into the resignation of George Little, director of athletics, Assemblyman Frederick Kres, committee secretary, pointed out that the resolution calling for an investigation was concerned primarily with athletic department's finances.

Major Scott Stumps Ripley on Dog Yarn

Ozark Admits Story of Setter, Jake, Is Just a Little Too Much for Him.

By Jimmy Jones.

Not so very long ago, Major Trammell Scott, of the A. E. F., went quail hunting behind a very tough little setter named Jake that he describes as "the most dog I ever saw in one day."

"And they hunt him with a sheep's bell around his neck so that they can keep up with him," the major went on enthusiastically.

A little man with bald head and bright eyes sat listening very attentively. He heard the major tell about this setter dog named Jake and how in one day he located 16 covies of quail while the major's dogs (all four of them) were finding one or batting about .70 on points.

The little man with the bright, beady eyes heard Major Scott say that this setter of Bob Sealy's had worn out four relays of dogs, two changes of horses, not to mention himself, while he was locating all those birds down at Cammellburg, Ala.

"Trammell, if you're a friend of mine, buy me that dog," Bob Woodruff had told him. But the major couldn't buy the dog. You see, Bob Sealy is going to run him against a pointer named Bozo from Willacooche, Ga., in the greatest two-dog field trials since the war.

Chet Clarke has already furnished the land for the match race—15,000 acres of it.

ON THE LINE.
And the north Georgia boys are laying the money on the line for the little setter named Jake.

This story of Major Scott's, and it's the straight dope, was too much for Ozark Ripley. He sat there very quietly at Pete Twitty's banquet hotel. The little man had seen some good bird trials, including some at Waynesboro, and had handled dogs all his life, but he had never heard of a setter like Jake.

Ozark Ripley, in company with the major, also had visited Clarksville, Ga., once and had dumbfounded the natives around Lake Burton with his feats at catching rainbow trout with a dry fly. Ozark had pulled trout out of those waters until his arm was sore from reeling them in. The Georgia boys, it seems, had been eating him with too much gusto and scaring all the trout away.

NEATLY DONE.
Ripley did the job neatly with a mere flick of the wrist. And up around Clarksville they'll still tell you how Ozark stumped those trout.

But Major Trammell Scott's story of the little setter, the pointer named Bozo, the two-dog field trials, including some at Waynesboro, and had handled dogs all his life, but he had never heard of a setter like Jake.

A dude from Chicago once came down to Ripley's camp in the Ozarks and brought along a British valet and several alleged hunting dogs that were such kisseries they had to be helped over logs and carried around briar patches.

THOSE SISSIES.
Ripley was then just a country boy trying to get along. He had a setter named Bessie that wasn't very much account. Bessie had a weakness for flushing every bird she came across.

But at that she found all the birds that were found. The sissies from Chicago couldn't find anything. And to Ripley's eternal disgust, he discovered that his dude friend couldn't even fire a gun. When the quail arose, the gentleman from Chicago never pulled a trigger. Ripley turned on him and demanded why.

"I couldn't find any place to rest my gun," he answered sheepishly. It later developed that he was a parlor hunter and had nothing to him but pomp and display. He asked Ozark what he would take for Bessie, the no-good pup. Ozark timidly held up two fingers. He meant two dollars of course. The dude pulled off $200. Bessie just a country boy, it looked like the U. S. mint to Ozark. He took it but his conscience hurt him. He wrote a friend in Chicago who knew the pup and demanded why.

Cracker Officials To Mail Contracts to 31 Players for Next Year

SPILLER SEES NO DIFFICULTY WITH HOLDOUTS

Bert Niehoff Thinks Addition of Knoxville Will Strengthen League.

Secretary Chick Roos, of the Atlanta Crackers, will fold up 31 contracts in envelopes and mail them out to ball players around the first of January, it was announced last night. Roos, who has gone to Mobile for the winter, will return to Atlanta immediately after Christmas to take over his duties at the Cracker offices. E. J. Spiller stated last night that he anticipated no trouble with "hold-outs" this year.

"I think they'll all come around all right," said Mr. Spiller. "Climax Bletchen, the club's leading pitcher, is the first Cracker to come into the fold, having agreed to terms before going home to the Maine woods in September."

Other veterans players will sign as soon as contracts are sent them, Spiller believes. These include Roy Carls, Red Barnes, St. Rosenthal, Johnny Chapman and other seasoned players who will be on hand for the 1932 club. Spiller still figures on getting another outfielder or pitcher before spring.

NIEHOFF LIKES OUTLOOK.

Bert Niehoff, recently renamed Chattanooga manager for next season, sees in the re-establishment of the Mobile franchise at Knoxville an end to league financial worries. "Knoxville will outdraw Mobile and has a smart, hustling manager in Joe Schepner," declared Niehoff. In regard to his own team at Chattanooga, Niehoff said that he hoped to have a "fighting club and one that would be in the race." He said that he was well satisfied with some of his holdover players, but needed a catcher and possibly a pitcher or so. The former Cracker pilot praised Joe Engle, Chattanooga head, as an officer and said that Engle had the right idea about showmanship. "Baseball is like any other game, you've got to give the crowd a show," says Bert.

Harben, Almand On Chamblee Card

CHAMBLEE, Dec. 15.—George Harben, of Chamblee, and Sun Almand, of Almand Park, will meet in the main event of a splendid wrestling card here Wednesday night. The first event will go on at 7:30 o'clock. The Harben-Almand bout will be two out of three falls—nothing barred. Harben hasn't lost a match in the past two years. He has been held to only two draws. In the semi-final, two out of three falls, Jack McAdams, of Senter Hill, will engage Bill Cowan, of Belmont. This bout has a one-hour limit. Wayne Coleman, of Roswell, and Joseph E. Leslie, of Doraville, are scheduled for a 15-minute preliminary one fall.

MAJOR SCOTT STUMPS RIPLEY

Continued from First Sports Page. Rude and offered to return it. The friend wired back: "Keep it. The dog has just introduced you to a four-flusher." Ozark has met many four-flushers since then. There will never be a depression among four-flushers.

After the old guide told this one, he followed with several more, including several prize fish stories. But Major Trammell, by unanimous vote of the audience, still had him up with the account of the setter who hunts with the sheep's bell.

"And what's more, I can prove it," he offered. But, of course everyone took the major at his word. There is such a dog and he's "the most dog you ever saw in one day."

'Maker of Champions' To Speak Here Tonight

Wallace Wade Is Principal Speechmaker at Duke University Alumni Get-Together.

By Jimmy Jones

Wallace Wade, the man who took the "thin red line" of football at the University of Alabama and rolled it into a mighty Crimson Tide, will be Atlanta's visitor tonight and the principal speaker at the Duke University Alumni dinner which will be held at 7 o'clock at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Wade, who has just completed his first year of coaching at Duke, comes here at the invitation of E. R. Paris, president, class of '14, and president of the Duke alumni. Dr. Nathan T. Teague is secretary of the organization.

The visit of the famous coach marks his first official appearance since he became affiliated with the great institution at Durham, succeeding Jimmy DeHart, now at Washington and Lee. An insight into the future of Duke football will be given by Wade, who will discuss the school's athletic progress. A number of the university's alumni in this section, including many Atlantans have been invited to hear him.

A warning note about Wade and his Blue Devils already has been sounded by some of our coaching brethren. "Watch Duke in '33," they are saying. They probably are correct on the forecast for during the past season, the Blue Devils showed flashes of brilliance under their new coach, notably in the 7-0 victory over Kentucky, the look out.

Coach Alexander, of Tech, gives Wade a couple of years to put in his system. Then look out, says Alex. Duke this year had a freshman team whose favorite pastime was licking the varsity, 'tis said.

Wade needs no introduction to the folks down here. They remember the great success of his Alabama teams in winning conference championships and making three trips to the coast without a defeat. The Duke coach is a quiet, modest man who manages to get the best out of his players without being a Simon Legree. His men, particularly his last team at 'Bama in 1930, performed wonders for him.

Tonight we will hear a word from Mister Wade himself. Advance reports are all right, but it is always vastly more assuring for the alumni

John Patrick Is Named 1932 Petrel Captain

Andy Morrow Is Alternate; Oglethorpe To Open Season Against Loyola of South.

By Jack Troy

John Patrick, Chicago, was unanimously elected captain of the Oglethorpe football team for 1932 at the annual banquet held in the University dining hall last night.

There was a tie between Dan Kenzie and Andy Morrow for alternate captain and the votes were recast. Morrow was elected on the second ballot. Kenzie is a tackle and Morrow a center.

At the same time Coach Harry Robertson told The Constitution that the Oglethorpe team will play its first game next season on Sept. 16 against Loyola of the south at New Orleans.

There will be no change in the practice dates for next year, Coach Robertson said. Candidates will report as usual on September 1, and the first game will be played after two weeks of practice.

Captain-elect Patrick, a guard, is not only one of the most popular players on the squad but is a ranking student as well. He has never fallen below 80 in his studies since he has been at Oglethorpe. Frank Anderson, athletic director and registrar, revealed that most of Patrick's grades have ranged in the 85s.

The six players who graduated were especially honored. They were called by the coaches the "finest six as a unit that Oglethorpe ever graduated. And in looking them over you'll agree they are."

SAD PARTING. They are Captain Parker Bryant, Lefty Syper, Frank Anderson, Paul Goldsmith, Claude Herrin and Dapper Myers. All six were called upon for speeches and they, as one voiced their regret at leaving. They praised Coaches Robertson and Nutty Campbell.

Campbell, who has coached Oglethorpe backfields since graduating from the Petrel school after a brilliant career as a quarterback, was undecided about his plans for next year. He wasn't sure whether he would return to coach or devote all of his time to practicing law. He divided his time between the two this season. Dr. Thorne Jacobs, president of Oglethorpe, in a speech to the graduates, coaches and sports writers, called football "one of the finest phases of American life." He pointed out that it is a game of the history of the world from the standpoint of interest and attendance.

REVIEWERS GAME. He reviewed football as it is played today in the different colleges and today in "recruiting and subsidizing."

"Oglethorpe players must be students as well as players," Dr. Jacobs said, "and unless they do this they will be promptly dropped from the team who badly it hurts the team."

Coach Robertson predicted an inspector would be appointed at the meeting of Southern conference leaders this week at New Orleans. He was of the opinion that the appointment of such a man would solve many of the problems now facing the organization.

ATTEND CLASSES. Robertson stressed the importance of attending classes and passing studies. And he paid tribute to the graduates.

Frank Anderson Sr., gave a straight-from-the-shoulder, heart-to-heart talk to the boys, impressing upon them the importance of studying along with their football. He told them how they would regret not getting degrees after finishing up. "There is another game that is more important than football," Mr. Anderson said. "That is the game of life."

Anderson quoted figures of Oglethorpe students of the past who had succeeded and failed. "The opportunity to get a real education is yours, boys," concluded Anderson. "You'll always regret it if you fail to take advantage of it."

There were other speeches by Perez, general teacher of modern languages at Oglethorpe; Al Church, trainer; Howard Martin, manager; Spud Kratz, of the coaching staff; and Banjo Tarrantino, one of the best liked members of the squad, who declared that "I have enjoyed fol-

DECATUR STARS GET SIX PLACES ON N.G.I.C. TEAM

Coaches Join in Selecting All-Star Eleven of Prep Players.

By Roy White

One of the most difficult tasks that confront sports writers is the selection of all-star teams. In many instances some of the best players are overlooked because they were not outstanding in certain games.

The Constitution's all-N. G. I. C. team has been selected with the aid of the coaches, who are better prepared to pick outstanding players than any one else. Those coaches who aided in this selection are Dickie Butler, Decatur High; Joe Bean, Marietta College; Rufus Godwin, Commercial; R. L. Bowen, Russell; C. McMillan, Griffin; and E. P. McIlwain, Fulton.

Ends and tackles were outstanding during the year and it was not difficult to select the best. Halfbacks came in for second place, with many players named for the various other positions.

FAVORITES. "Doc" Smith, of Decatur; E. Ryckel, of Marietta; and Anderson and McKinley, of Decatur, were almost unanimous choices. They proved to be the steadiest and best players of the entire season.

At the ends, Smith, Decatur, and Mitchell, University school, stand out. They were particularly good on defense. The Smith period, materials in Decatur's championship drive by catching numerous passes for touchdowns. Heard, Commercial, and Smith, Griffin, were also good. Collins, who played tackle and guard for University, was a natural end, but played tackle most of the season, where he was most noticeable offensively. McGhee and Hodges, Fulton; Sims and Collins, University, and Calloway, Commercial, were other good tackles that developed during the year.

At guards, Carmack and Reddick, Butler, are given first place, and despite suggestions to move players from other positions. Only players who continued at the same positions are given places on the all-star team.

Gene Ryckel, Marietta, and Sampson, Griffin, received the most votes for tackles. Their work was exceptional. McGhee and Hodges, Fulton; Sims and Collins, University, and Calloway, Commercial, were other good tackles that developed during the year.

THE SPORT LIGHT

By Franklin Rice

The Dizzy Aftermath. One thing distinguishes football above all other sports—it has the noisiest aftermath of them all. If it isn't "over-emphasis" it is "over" something else. This time most of the chatter is around the injury list and the hard pressure of the big time season.

The case of "Chick" Meahan and N. Y. U. is typical of more than one university. Meahan was brought to N. Y. U. to put the Violet on a big time program. He was brought there by the university. He did not know then N. Y. U. decided to slip away from the big time scale, with all its pressure and hullabaloo—so Meahan is out.

At the worst he should have had a chance to show whether or not he could fit in with the new scheme of things. As it is, N. Y. U. is left facing another big time schedule, and this time the players will have to be coached, trained and developed for big time stuff.

There is undoubtedly too much high pressure on too many teams taking the big time road. They cannot face any such combination of competitive pressure week after week, keep up in their college work, and get much good from either source. The emotional expenditure of a football season is even heavier than the physical.

All of which indicates that this will be the busiest winter season yet known in the way of suggestion and counter suggestion, argument and debate. And the main idea to be followed is not so much "for the good of the game" as for the general welfare of those playing the game, who happen to be much more important.

The Golden Decade. Babe Ruth has turned another milestone in his impressive baseball career, and he turned it as easily as he shuffles around first base loping out a home run into the bleachers. It's hard to say which feat of his 1931 performance, for which the official records have been issued, is most arresting. Graying a bit, as ball players go, the mighty slugger of the Yankees stadium was on the job in 148 games last season, which was his nineteenth in the majors, and his fifteenth in which he has hit 300 or better, the tell-tale of the game's best.

Aside from his activity, despite his bulk and advancing years, the completion of 10-year records for home runs and total number of bases scored are most interesting angles. In compiling the second best average in the junior league, .373, Ruth slammed out 149 runs, making 1931 the tenth season in which he has hit 40 or more home runs and also the tenth season in which his total bases have exceeded 300. The figure was 374 last summer.

There are other feats written down to the credit of the Yankees' head man, proving that at almost any price the Babe is worth his tariff. The only rival who led him in hitting was the long-arm of the Athletics, Al Simmons, who had a mark of .300 against Ruth's .373. But Simmons played in only 128 games to Ruth's 148.

GROVE LEADS FINE 'A' STAFF; ONE OF BEST

Tall Southpaw's Record Was Best in League Since 1900.

By Paul Michelson

CHICAGO, Dec. 15.—(AP)—Robert Moses Grove and his Philadelphia American league mound mates gave one of the most sparkling staff performances in baseball last season. Led by their powerful southpaw, the Athletics hurlers allowed but 3.47 earned runs for each nine innings, official pitching averages disclosed today. The staff performance proved the big reason why the A's finished ahead of the Yankees in the American league pennant fight.

Grove was the pitching champion of the league with 81 victories and four defeats. His winning percentage was .888, the highest record of any major league pitcher since 1900. While his earned run average for nine innings was the lowest in the circuit at 2.05, Vernon Gomez, young southpaw from California, ranked second in the least number of earned runs allowed, permitting but 2.63 during his first year with the Yankees. Grove also was the strike-out king again with 175 victims.

On the basis of earned runs allowed in 20 games or more, the "big ten" of the American league pitchers were: Grove, Philadelphia, 2.05; Gomez, New York, 2.63; Rommel, Philadelphia, 2.98; Hadley, Washington, 3.05; Brown, Washington, 3.20; MacBerry, Washington, 3.26; Uhle, Detroit, 3.50; Earnshaw, Philadelphia, 3.67; Walberg, Philadelphia, 3.74; Ferrell, Cleveland, 3.75.

Washington finished second to the Athletics pitchers in the staff earned run record with a mark of 3.76 while New York had a record of 4.20. The other pitching stiffs finished as follows: Detroit, 4.58; Boston, 4.60; Cleveland, 4.63; St. Louis, 4.76; Chicago, 5.06. The White Sox thus finished last in four departments—least in games won, pitching, batting and fielding.

Two no-hit games were pitched during the 1931 campaign. "Cotton" Conch Bob Burke, of Washington, turning in the feats.

AUSTELL AIDS CHARITY GOLF

Austell golfers will join Atlanta in its mammoth charity golf tournament December 27 for the city's unemployment relief fund, it was announced Tuesday by Howard Land, owner.

Land has asked for 75 of the tags from the Atlanta Golf Association, which is sponsoring the event, and golfers in the vicinity of Austell will be invited to play on the popular nine-hole course.

The Sawtooth course, at Austell, is one of the sportiest nine-hole layouts near Atlanta, and construction of another nine holes has been started. The new layout is expected to be completed for play early next fall.

Members of the sporting department of the three Atlanta papers played their first annual sports writers' tournament on the Sweetwater course last summer.

BONDS IRREGULAR

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER.
NEW YORK, Dec. 15. (AP)—The curb market saw-sawed indecisively in heavy trading today.

A long list of issues again registered new lows, but the market closed with a rally in progress, and a few shares of the "blue chips" list saw a whole made little progress in either direction. The turnover of 680,000 shares was slightly larger than yesterday's.

More active utilities were generally firm in the late trading. Electric Bond and Share closed at 10, up a fraction. American Gas and Electric gained nearly a point. Middle West closed at 6 3/8. Duke Power appeared in an odd lot at 78, up 2.

Industrials were mixed.

Oils were also trendless. Gulf refiners were steady. Indiana was steady. Humble lost 3/4.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 15.—(P)—Grain exports last week from the United States amounted to 2,501,000 bushels against 1,883,000 bushels the previous week and 703,000 during the corresponding week last year.

Commerce department figures today gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those of the week before: Wheat 2,403,000 against 1,489,000; barley 49,000 against 150,000; corn 37,000 against 24,000; oats 12,000 against 31,000. No exports of rye were reported for either week.

were 163,000 barrels against 221,000 barrels.

Sugar, Coffee, Rice.

SUGAR.
NEW YORK, Dec. 15.—Raw sugar was unchanged today. The only business reported was to operators and included 24,300 bags of No. 11, December, at 1.05 1/2 c.p.b. Cuba, equal to about 3.15 or 3.16 dnt paid delivered, and 90,000 bags of Philippines for March to July shipment at 3.25.

There was an easier tone in futures, where final prices showed a net loss of 3 to 5 cents. The December sales 8,650 tons. December closed 1.05, January 1.07, March 1.11, May 1.14, July 1.10, September 1.25, December 1.31.

Refined was unchanged at 4.20 for fine granulated with trading limited to nearby customers only.

were generally lower today under European selling. No. 7 contracts opened unchanged at 14.75 and closed 8 to 13 lower. Sales to 1 lower and closed at 8.00. Santos 4s 81c to 82c. Closing quotations: No. 7 contracts, December 5.42; March 5.60; May 5.72; July 5.83; September 5.93. Santos December 7.73; March 7.93; May 8.07; July 8.20; September 8.30.
